PENNSYLVANIA BOYS GIVEN A RECEPTION.

CHEERED IN SAN FRANCISCO

A TRIUMPHAL MARCH TO THE PRESIDIO.

HAD BEARING OF VETERANS

WILL BE MUSTERED OUT AND SENT HOME.

San Francisco, Aug. 3—At 9 o'clock this morning the Pennsylvania troops disembarked from the transport Senator and commenced the march to the Presidio reservation, where the soldiers will go into camp preparatory to mustering out.

The reception accorded the soldiers from the Keystone state was similar to that given the Oregon, Nebraska and Utah boys who had preceded them home. Thousands upon thousands of people lined the streets through which the boys were to pass. The usual medley of steam whistles, cannons and fireworks accompanied them all through the business section of the city. Lower Market street was packed with people as the parade swung into that thoroughfare and a mighty cheer went up and was carried all the way up the street and repeated. Flags waved constantly as the soldiers marched between the lines of spectators and it seemed as if every piece of bunting and every flag in the city had been brought into service. From hotel windows and business houses streamers of bunting were thrown to the breeze and in some places strings of cow bells had been suspended from windows to add to the din.

Three heavy batteries, one light battery and the regimental band of the Third artillery came first in the parade, followed by the Nebraska regiment, and then came the Pennsylvanians led by Lieutenant Colonel Barrett.

Colonel Barrett's sword, draped in crape out of respect to the memory of Colonel Hawkins, commander of the regiment, who died at sea en route home, caused a hush to fall on the multitudes.

The Pennsylvanians were a sturdy lot and presented even a better appearance, from a health sandpoint, than did the Nebraska boys and those from Utah, but they ascribe this to the tonic effects of the sea air and to the fact that they were off the fighting line for some time before departing from the islands.

Today they were attired in blue uniforms and carried their blankets and rifles, and their spick and span appearance commanded great attention.

The soldiers accepted the attention showered upon them modestly, plodding along with even step and only occasionly looking to the right or left. The expressions of gratification which the sun-burned faces bore and an occasional cheer were the only signs they permitted themselves to show that they appreciated the demonstrations of a grateful people.

The plaudits of an admiring people could not dissipate the discipline of a year's service in Uncle Sam's army, and the loss of their commander hung heavily upon them.

The battle flag of the Pennsylvanians, torn, shot-riddled and almost a wreck of its former beauty, excited more admiration than did anything else. As soon as the color bearer came in sight carrying the dingy and frayed piece of silk, a cheer, mightier if possible than any which had been given the boys, rang out and reverberated along the throngs who had gathered to welcome the soldiers.

The ambulances of the Pennsylvanians brought up the rear of the regiment, bearing the sick and wounded. Following the Pennsylvanians came battery C, of the Third artillery, from the Presidio.

The parade was reviewed in Van Ness avenue by General Shafter and in the reviewing stand with him was the committee of Pennsylvanians who had come from the Keystone state to extend a welcome to their returned heroes. As the troops passed the reviewing stand they could not suppress a cheer and it was returned by those in the stand bowing, waving handkerchiefs and flags.

On their arrival at the Presidio the work of going into camp was taken up with a vim and early in the afternoon the boys were comfortably quartered.

Here they will remain for several weeks until they are mustered out, when they will be taken to their homes in a body.

Arrangements for their transportation east are nearing completion and by the time the soldiers are mustered out everything will be in readiness to have them rushed home.

WILL VISIT PRESIDENT.

New York, Aug. 3.—Vice-President Hobart will leave Long Branch on Friday for Lake Champlain, where he will visit President McKinley. He will remain with the president for two weeks. It is expected when he returns to his summer home at Normanburst, at Norwood Park, that President McKinley will return with him to make his long expected Long Branch visit.

TAILORS WIN STRIKE.

New York, Aug. 3.—The tailors have won their strike, practically all the contractors having signed agreements of the coming season. These contracts allow operators $18, basters $15 and finishers $10 a week. Ten hours is to constitute a day's work.

BOYS RANSACK "WILDWOOD."

DETECTIVE COLING MAKES AN INVESTIGATION

And Finds That Everything is Upside Down and Property Has Been Stolen.

Detective Coling arrested a number of lads today who are charged with burglarizing "Wildwood," Judge L. M. Ninde's suburban home in South Wayne. Judge Ninde and his family are away from home enjoying a vacation and a number of boys ranging in years from fourteen to sixteen knew this. Neighbors saw them in the premises and suspected that they had been in the house. The police were notified and this morning Detective Coling made an investigation. He gained an entrance to the mansion and found that the bureaus had been searched, clothing was scattered about the house with the pockets turned inside out, and several pocket books were lying about the premises with nothing in them but papers. Every gas jet in the place was turned on full blast.

The detective suspected certain boys and arrested Emmett Evens, who lives on Home avenue. He implicated seven other boys and before noon Michael Sullivan, another Home avenue lad, and Charles and Michael Ehrman, who live near the corner of Broadway and Taylor street, were arrested. The lads admitted having entered the premises. One of them had a key which unlocked the back door and this was used to obtain an entrance. The boys admitted having taken some old iron and rubber goods that were scattered about and these they had sold. It is impossible for the officers to tell whether any valuables are missing until the Ninde family returns.

Detective Coling is this afternoon hunting for the three boys of the seven implicated who have not been arrested. They all reside on the south side and are members of respectable families.

BOYCOTT WEARING OUT.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 3.—Absolute quiet reigned throughout the city last night and today. Street car service was maintained last night on the Union street line, which passes through the most turbulent sections of the city, without trouble. The military force is being rapidly withdrawn and by the close of the present week the last company of soldiers will probably be ordered home. There was a decided increase in the number of passengers carried on some of the Big Consolidated cars this morning. Many well informed persons who have been watching the progress of the boycott closely, think that the movement has reached its limit and is now on the wane.

A NEW FEUD REPORTED.

London, Ky., Aug. 3.—A new feud is reported to have broken out on Barnes Fork, in Letcher county, Kentucky, between the Wrights and Holbrooks on one side and the Reynolds and Bentleys on the other. Each faction is heavily armed and occupying adjacent hills. An outbreak is expected at any time.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Eugene S. Dingman and Grace G. Guy.

Rev. L. L. Henson, who came down from Pine Lake Tuesday to preach some funeral sermons and marry two couples, returned to that place this morning. He will return here tomorrow afternoon.

FEARS CONQUEST.

DOMINICAN PAPER APPEALS TO THE POWERS.

DREADS THE UNITED STATES

THINKS UNCLE SAM WANTS THE ISLAND.

AMBITIONS MUST BE CURBED

THE NEWS FROM THE LITTLE REPUBLIC.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 3.—Owing to the efforts of the government of Santo Domingo to suppress news and information about the recent assassination of President Heureaux and the reported revolution in Santo Domingo, the facts in the case are difficult to obtain.

But a dispatch received by a messenger who had passed through Hayti indicates that the assassination of President Heureaux was not on the program, the purpose of the revolutionists being to capture Moca, with the president, thus decapitating the Dominican government at the first blow, the insurgents not possessing the means of prosecuting a protracted conflict. The premature departure of President Heureaux threatened to frustrate this scheme, whereupon an enthusiast, who was watching the president's movements, committed the act.

A subsequent attack on Moca being repulsed, the insurgents withdrew into the fastnesses between Moca and Porto Plata, hoping to secure sufficient accessions of men and arms to attack Porto Plata and prosecute the movement in spite of the initial failure.

Commenting on a London cablegram relative to possible American intervention in San Domingo, the Gleanor today says it anticipates the "finding of an excuse to add the island of Hayti to the string of Antillian gems on the new colonial diadem," and invokes the powers to "curb America's ambition."

OUTRAGES IN HAYTI.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Acting Secretary of State Adee has received a cablegram from Minister Powell, at Port Au Prince, Hayti, confirming the newspaper reports of the violation of his legation by police officers who were making an arrest. The minister added that the person who was arrested (De Viviier) is a citizen of Hayti and he seeks to know what disposition shall be made of him upon his return to the legation.

The department is now giving this query consideration and it will probably direct the minister to surrender the man to the authorities if it shall appear that the proceedings are regular and that he will be given a fair trial.

If the Haytien government expresses regret at the invasion of the legation the state department will be satisfied.

THE GAS COMMITTEE.

Chairman Hench has called a meeting of the committee of the whole to consider the natural gas question tomorrow evening. The special committee of five, composed of Councilmen Hosey, Scheid, Schuhler, Bauer and Clark, which was appointed to submit a number of questions to President Henry C. Paul, will meet this evening and prepare a report to be submitted to the committee of the whole. An ordinance fixing the gas rates at 25 or 30 per cent. lower than at present has been prepared and will be discussed by the committee of the whole tomorrow evening. The new ordinance will provide that new rates go into effect on January 1st next.

WILL SEE THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Secretary Root will leave this evening for New York to be absent until Monday. It is quite likely that he will see the president before he returns to Washington.

NEW BOARD OF CHARITIES.

In accordance with the law passed by the last general assembly Judge O'Rourke has appointed a county board of charities and corrections. The following persons were chosen: A. B. White and Miss Eliza C. Rudisill for three years; George Gale and Mrs. Ellen Cooper for two years, and Col. R. S. Robertson and Dr. C. B. Stemen for one year. All have not signified their acceptance. The new board will have general supervision of the institutions for charities and corrections which are under the control of the county authorities. They will visit the county infirmary, jail, prisons, hospitals, and other institutions, making suggestions as to the betterment of conditions, and keep a general lookout for the welfare of the public charges.

SWAIM QUIT THE CLUB.

"Cy" Swaim did not return with the Fort Wayne team at noon today. He has gone back to his home in Cadwallader, Ohio, and says he will play no more base ball this season. He did not notify Manager Glasscock of his intentions, but did tell some of the members of the team that he had been examined by a physician, who said he had heart trouble and therefore he did not care to pitch any more this season. Some of the team believe he quit because he did not win every game in which he pitched.

JONES WANTS TO COME HOME.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER WOULD LIKE TO RETIRE.

Not Anxious to Retain Chairmanship, but Will Hold Until Next Convention.

New York, Aug. 3.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: Senator Jones, of Arkansas, wished to return home from Europe as early as September 10, but his physicians laid upon him the injunction not to leave before October 1.

The senator writes to a friend in this city that he feels as well as at any time in twenty years and has not the slightest premonition of another attack of the heart disease from which he suffered. It is learned from a friend of the senator that he is not ambitious to hold the chairmanship of the executive committee of his party, but that it was not deemed wise to resign at this time and invite a scramble for the place. Hence, without quoting Senator Jones himself, he says that the senator will resign the leadership of the democratic party by the time of the national convention so as to give an opportunity for the choice of another man.

SUICIDE OF JAMES TURPIE.

LEAPED FROM A THIRD STORY WINDOW IN LAFAYETTE.

He Was a Prominent Citizen of That City, and the Cause of His Act is Unknown.

Lafayette, Aug. 3.—J. H. Turpie, one of the best known residents of this city, committed suicide early today. He plunged headforemost from a third story window of the Hotel Lahr and struck the paving on Fifth street. An ambulance took the body to a hospital, but life was found extinct.

There is no known reason for the act.

Mr. Turpie lived with his family in the aristocratic part of the city, near the hotel. He was assigned to a room at midnight and two hours later his body was found in the street.

WON NEW LAURELS.

The attraction at Island Park Assembly yesterday was the three concerts given by Fort Wayne entertainers—Miss A. Lillian Schrader, soprano and violin soloist; Mrs. Carrie Schrader-Gesaman, reader; W. R. Gerberding, baritone soloist, and Miss Hedwig Schrey, piano soloist and accompanist. Their work was highly appreciated, and each of the artists was compelled to respond to the heartiest of encores. Their duets and trios were fully up to the high standard of the solo numbers, and the company is in all respects a strong and capable one.

DID NOT FILE BONDS

The bids for the addition to the Allen County Orphans' Home had not been opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The contractors were on hand on time, but most of them failed to file bonds as required by the new law and others had not made the necessary affidavit that there was no collusion with other bidders.

HOME FROM SEATTLE.

Dr. H. C. Sites returned last evening from Seattle, Wash., where he went two weeks ago on business for the Buckler River Mining company. The company has disposed of its copper holdings in Washington.

FOR LARGE ARMY.

SECRETARY ROOT APPLYING HIS ENERGIES.

DEVELOPMENTS OBSERVED

WANTS 40,000 MEN AVAILABLE FOR PHILIPPINES.

HE IS DILIGENT IN INQUIRY

WILL INCREASE THE FORCE IN THE ARCHIPELAGO.

Washington, Aug. 3.—It appears probable from developments during the past two days in the war department that Secretary Root has in contemplation an army of 40,000 available men for the Philippines.

While Mr. Root has been at the head of the department only a brief time, he has been making diligent inquiries among the bureau chiefs regarding supplies and equipments and the trend of his questioning has been in the direction of an increase in the military force in the eastern archipelago.

HIS LIGHT WAS OUT.

Philadelphia, Aug. 3.—The captain of the British steamer Gloosecap, which arrived today from Iloilo with a cargo of sugar, reports that on April 2d, when passing Cape Maelville, Balabac Islands, one of the Philippines, he found the lighthouse keeper without provisions and unable to light his lamps because he had no oil. The Gloosecap furnished supplies and reported the fact to the British consul at Batavia. The natives of the island, the captain says, had all been killed by Spaniards.

SHAMROCK HAS A MISHAP.

CUP CHALLENGER FORCED TO PUT BACK.

Had Sailed From Fairlie on Her Voyage Across the Atlantic—Damage Was Slight.

Glasgow, Aug. 3.—The cup challenger Shamrock sailed from Fairlie this morning en route to America. She had proceeded but a short distance when she had a slight mishap to her bowsprit, and had to return to Fairlie, thus delaying her departure for a short time.

The Shamrock was accompanied by Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin gaily decorated with flags.

As the two yachts proceeded down the river, whose banks were thronged with spectators, they were greeted with enthusiastic cheers intermingled with singing "Rule Britannia."

The craft in the vicinity of Fairlie displayed flags in honor of the departing challenger.

The sounds of the whistles and sirens blowing in honor of the Shamrock was deafening. As already cabled, the Shamrock will take a southerly course.

Captain Hogarth expects to reach New York within twenty-eight days as he does not intend to push the yacht to any extent. She is insured at Lloyds' for $200,000, at 5 per cent.

It was noted as a good omen that the last racing yacht which sailed for America from Fairlie was the unbeaten Minerva, skippered by "Charlie" Barr, now skipper of the Columbia.

The Shamrock's racing spars will be taken to New York by the Anchor line steamer City of Rome.

Captain Hogarth' just before he started, said he considered the Shamrock to be a perfect racing machine.

WARRANTS SERVED.

Constable Bagby at noon today served the warrants on the Fort Wayne ball players, in which they are ordered to appear before Justice Bullerman Friday morning and answer to a charge of having played a game of base ball on Sunday for a fee. These affidavits were issued on affidavit of one James Kleichner, of Logansport.

STORM REPORTS MEAGRE.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 3.—Reports from Carabelle, indicate that Tuesday's storm was more disastrous than at first supposed. It is known, however, that the magnificent docks of the Gulf Naval Stores company have been destroyed. A large warehouse of that company containing $100,000 worth of rosin was swept away. The steamer Capitola, also the property of the Naval Stores company, was blown ashore. About two-thirds of the town proper was destroyed. A steamer will leave here this evening to ascertain the true statement of things.

VOLUNTEERS STILL COMING.

Volunteers at the Fort Wayne recruiting office today were nine in number, as follows: George Jones, Fort Wayne; William L. Bodiac, Wallen; Jesse E. Ruby, Otis E. Waltman, William J. Brown and William F. Goodrich, of Cromwell; Charles E. Brady, Jesse F. Cory and Samuel E. Gibson, of Syracuse. They have not yet made choice of regiments.

MRS. PEROT AGAIN REMANDED.

THE BALTIMORE WOMAN IN A LONDON COURT.

The Daughter for Whose Abduction She Was Arrested, Repulsed Her Father's Father.

London, Aug. 3.—Mrs. William Y. Perot, of Baltimore, Md., who was arrested at Liverpool on an extradition warrant July 27 after reaching that port from Canada, charged with the abduction of her daughter Gladys, and who was brought here and remanded the same day on £100 bail, with two sureties, appeared for examination this morning in the Bow street police court. She was again remanded on the same bail and with the same sureties, Sir G. Ewen-Smith and N. Blood.

Mrs. Perot looked remarkably well and entered the court holding her daughter by the hand, and escorted by her brother, T. Pierce, and Lady Collin Campbell.

N. Blood, a brother of Lady Colin Campbell, who accompanied Mrs. Perot to this country, entered the court a few minutes later.

There was some excitement in the court room when W. H. Perot, the father-in-law of Mrs. Perot, entered, accompanied by Mr. Hodsell, of the United States embassy. Mr. Perot advanced to greet the child, but she hid her face in her hands, muttering:

"I don't wish to speak to you."

"But, my dear," he replied, "I have a leter from your father and he sends his love."

The child wept but did not answer, and Mr. Perot seemed much hurt.

Mr. Crane, representing the United States embassy, said that extradition papers marked "Urgent" and "Pressing" were handed this morning to the officials of the British foreign office and were now on their way to the home office. Some days must necessarily elapse, he added, before copies of the documents could be placed in the magistrate's hands.

Therefore Mr. Crane asked that the prisoner be remanded.

Counsel for Mrs. Perot acquiesced.

CZAR IS PLEASED.

OFFICIAL REVIEW OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

FULLY UP TO EXPECTATIONS

CRUELTIES OF WAR WILL BE STOPPED.

MAINTENANCE OF PEACE EASY

TIME WILL POINT THE WAY TO DISARMAMENT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—The Official Messenger today publishes a government "communique" reviewing lengthily the result of The Hague peace conference. After referring to the sympathetic reception the powers accorded the czar's "magnanimous appeal for peace," it proceeds:

"The results of the conference have fully come up to the expectations of the government. It has been found necessary for the conference to postpone a definite settlement of the complicated question of the suspension of armament until fully elucidated by the different governments. Nevertheless the lightening of military burdens is already admitted by unanimos resolution to be urgently desirable for all nations. On the other hand, the labors of the conference will doubtless exercise influence in regulating the customs of war and stopping cruelties. The various states have agreed to use all their resources in favor of the maintenance of peace and the abolition of war. It is now an established fact that mediation, which heretofore depended on the good will of the states interested, can henceforward be offered by a third power on its own initiative."

The "communique" concludes:

"Without impairing the sovereign rights of the individual states, the results afford a fresh basis for international peace. The necessity for a solution of the czar's proposals is admitted by all the powers and the march of events will indicate the means to be employed in securing the welfare of mankind and the full attainmentof the objects in view."

HAVE A GRIEVANCE.

Restaurant men of the city are getting together for the purpose of having an understanding regarding the coming street fair. The restaurant men say that heretofore they have donated liberally to these and other celebrations and when the event arrived churches and other societies which did not contribute to defray expenses of the celebration have stepped in and furnished meals, thereby cutting off the revenue of the restauranteurs very perceptibly. They have no objection to any society feeding the hungry after they have done their part in contributing toward defraying the expense of the fair, but they object to subscribing and then dividing profits with those who have done nothing toward the celebration. The restaurant men will hold a meeting next week to take action in the matter.

SITE IS NOT CHOSEN.

No selection has yet been made of grounds for the Buffalo Bill show on Saturday, and the matter will not be determined until tomorrow. James Barnett called at The Sentinel office this morning and authorized a denial of the report that his land on Spy Run avenue had been engaged for the event. It is regarded as almost certain that the show will be given in the eastern part of the city and a Lakeside location is regarded very favorably by the management.

WILL RACE LABOR DAY.

The Amateur Driving club held a meeting Tuesday evening and decided to hold a race meeting on Labor day at the mile track of the Fort Wayne Driving club. A program of events is to be arranged in which Fort Wayne horses will be the contenders. One of the events will be the second race between Wayne Chief, Herman Tapp's great trotter, and Red Elgin, Frank Gruber's fast pacer. In the first race Wayne Chief won in consecutive heats.

Charles A. Singrey, the grocer, who has been critically ill at Hope hospital, is now very much improved and unless unexpected complications develop his recovery will be rapid.

Wheeling Batters Bunted the Ball and Beat the Throws to First —Toledo Lost.

The Stogies made it two out of three by winning the prettiest game played in Wheeling this season. Swaim and Wells were opposing twirlers and the Wheelings won because the Fort Wayne twirler could not field the little bunts the Wheeling batters hit in front of the plate. Wells was effective, it being impossible for the Fort Wayne batters to connect with his curves when men were on bases and a hit was needed. Belden made the only errors for the Fort Waynes and he was playing out of his position. Score:

STROBEL IS NO FOOL.

The Toledo Bee, in an article commenting on the transfer of Torreyson and his "misfits" from Grand Rapids to Columbus, registers a loud howl against trading a good city for a dead one and tells itself that Toledo is keeping the Inter-State and carries the "white man's burden." The writer knows Charley Strobel and believes he is no fool. He has a fine team of ball players, which has advertised the Lake City more than any team that ever played there. And this team doesn't cost Mr. Strobel more than $7,000 for the season. He has fine players, but no big salaries. It is admitted that the Toledo magnate clears from $3,000 to $4,000 a year, a nice profit. Were he to enter the Western league he would be compelled to pay salaries averaging $50 a month a player bigger than he now pays. For fourteen men, which he must carry in the bigger league, this means $3,500 a season. The receipts in Toledo will not exceed $10,000 a year and thus will all his profits be eaten up, even should he have a one-two-three club. Then, upposing he had a loser? Toledo wouldn't stand for it; the town would soon be as dead as Columbus and it couldn't break into the Maumee Valley league. The sporting editors should give Mr. Strobel credit for having at least horse sense. He knows a good thing when he has it and he'll keep it, too. Mark that. Admitted that Torreyson is a millstone to the Inter-State, it is easy enough to get rid of him at the next league meeting. And the Toledo writer knows as well as anybody else that there are no gamer base ball men in the business than the gentlemen behind the Inter-State, who have made it the king-pin little league of the country.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Where is big Ed Herr, anyhow? He hasn't been heard from for many moons.

Tomorrow is ladies' day and all the fair sex will be admitted to the game free. Fort Wayne ladies attend the ball games in greater numbers than in any other city in the Interstate circuit.

Billy Wayne has signed with Fred Cooke's Crawfordsville team and pitched his first game yesterday against Wabash, the Crawfordsvilles winning by a score of 1 to 0. Only one hit was made off Wayne's curves.

Boston's two victories and Brooklyn's defeat gave the champions quite a "hunch" toward the pennant. Young Bailey, the ex-South Bend twirler, who might have been with Fort Wayne, pitched one of the victories, allowing the Perfectos one hit. Bailey appears to be the find of the season.

The Shamrocks will leave for Richmond Sunday morning at 2:40, over the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, where in the afternoon the Fort Wayne boys will meet the Richmond team. This will be the Shamrocks' third visit to the Quaker city this season, the Shamrocks winning both games.

Danny Sheehan, the new shortstop signed by Fort Wayne, arrived in the city on the early morning Nickel Plate train and will probably play his first game this afternoon. He will have every "fan" in the grand stand pulling for him to make a success at short and on his former record there is no reason why he shouldn't succeed.

Brashear, the Louisville twirler, has accepted terms offered by the Fort Wayne management and will report here probably tomorrow. A ticket was telegraphed him yesterday. Al. Fisher and Sample assert that Brashear was far and away the best twirler in the Western association besides being a fine infielder and fair hitter. If he is one-half as fast as his friends assert he will add greatly to Fort Wayne's pitching strength.

AMATEUR GAMES.

The Little Rocks would like to receive a challenge from any base ball team in the city whose members are not over fifteen years of age. Address G. Aubrey, captain and manager, 56 Thomas street.

The Fort Wayne Drug Co. ball team defeated the Royals by a score of 9 to 5. Batteries For Drug Co., Steger and Beneke; for Royals, Tolan and Whiteleather.

The Blues defeated the New Haven Owls 20 to 6. The feature of the game was a home run hit by Harrod. Batteries—Blues, Smith and Longfield; Owls, Zeddis and Dowling.

A CHALLENGE.

The Bell Telephone company's ball team is now ready to play any team in the city and they would like to hear from the mail carriers for a game next Sunday. Address Otto Hild, captain Bell Telephone club.

TOO FAST FOR FRANK BOGASH.

COULD GET NO BETTER THAN THIRD MONEY.

Searchlight Lowers His Record Again—Protest Against the Official Time.

Columbus, O., Aug. 3.—The weather was ideal and the track was very fast. Searchlight paced the three fastest heats of the season, 2:03¼, 2:04¼ and 2:04, and clipped a half second off his record. The Maid created a sensation among the turfmen by winning the postponed 2:10 pace after failing to finish better than third in any one of the four heats paced Tuesday. The Maid also established a new world's record for 4-year-old mares when she paced the fifth heat of the race in 2:05¾. The best previous record was 2:06¼, made by The Maid at Cleveland last week.

The 2:04 pace, despite the fast time, was won by Searchlight apparently without an effort. The gelding is undoubtedly the fastest pacer out this season and he was almost a prohibitive favorite in the betting. His performance in the first heat was nothing short of sensational. There were six starters—Bessie Bonehill, Anaconda, Frank Bogash, Searchlight, Directly and Chehalis.

Anaconda took the lead at the start and it was evident that McHenry proposed to force McCarthy to drive Searchlight out, for Anaconda went the first quarter at almost a two-minute gait. Searchlight moved up slowly and it was a pretty race all the way to the three quarters, with the two horses neck and neck after they passed the half and Directly close behind. As the horses came into the stretch Searchlight shot ahead and held the lead, passing under the wire two lengths ahead of Anaconda without being urged. The official time by quarters was 0.30¼, 1:01, 1:29¼, 2:03¾.

A protest was at once raised against the time, it being claimed that the heat was made in 2:02¼, the half being 0.59¼ instead of 1:01. This was the time caught by a number of horsemen. The official time indicates that the third quarter was made in 0.28¼, considerably under a two-minute gait. The protest was not regarded, however, and the quarter of a second keeps Searchlight in the 2:04 class. The gelding won the two remaining heats with as much ease as the first. The pace was too hot for Chehalis and after staying one heat he was distanced. Summaries:

PIONEER'S JOURNEY IS ENDED.

DEATH CALLS MRS. ISABELLA RUGG TO REST.

Last of a Prominent Family Who Came to Allen County to Reside in 1824.

At 6 o'clock Wednesday evening Mrs. Isabella Rugg, another of the pioneers whose lives were closely associated with the early history and development of Fort Wayne, passed away at the home of her niece, Miss Frances Sinclair, 45 College street. Mrs. Rugg had reached the age of 77 years, and death was due to diabetes, from which she has long been a sufferer. Though ill for several weeks, her condition was not regarded as alarming until Friday last.

Mrs. Rugg was born at Shane's Prairie, Ohio, in 1822, and when but two years of age came with her mother and brothers, the late William S., Samuel and Simon Edsall, to Allen county to reside. Mrs. Rugg was the youngest and last surviving member of the Edsall family, which for many years was one of the most prominent in this section. She resided in Fort Wayne until 1854, when she was united in marriage with Samuel L. Rugg, who was elected state superintendent of public instruction, and with him removed to Indianapolis, where they resided until the expiration of his term of office. They then took up their residence in Tennessee, remaining there until Mr. Rugg's death in 1871. Mrs. Rugg then returned to Fort Wayne and made her home with her brothers, William S. and Simon Edsall, until their death, and since that time has lived with her niece, Miss Sinclair.

Mrs. Rugg's nearest surviving relatives are neices, Miss Sinclair, Mrs. Henry Colerick, Mrs. Helen Nelson and Mrs. George Crane, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Willis Maier, of Chicago; Miss Alice Coombs, of Cincinnati, and her nephews, Peter and Joseph Edsall and Thomas and Joseph Coombs. Mrs. Rugg possessed self-reliance and energy to a remarkable degree, and throughout her long and exemplary life was held in the highest esteem by an exceedingly large circle of acquaintances. A woman of sterling worth and integrity, her life was a help and an encouragement to those around her, and her loyalty to her friendships was unfaltering.

The funeral services will occur Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of Miss Sinclair.

SMITH.

Roy Smith, who for some time has been a sufferer from consumption, died Wednesday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Smith, 344 Washington boulevard, at the age of twenty-two. Funeral services will be held from the residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and both the funeral and interment will be private.

RUSSELL.

Helen M. Russell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell, died at 4 o'clock this morning from kidney trouble, at 50 Oliver street. His age was 14 months. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon. The father is a machinist at the Bowser Oil Tank works.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

House.—Funreal services of Vivion Knox House will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence, 417 Broadway.

Rondot.—Funeral services of Frank Rondot, 18 Randolph street, will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at Academie.

Kierspe.—Funeral services of Willard Henry Kierspe will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 37 Michigan avenue. Rev. Danneker will officiate.

Coombes.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Eliza Coombes will occur at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon from the residence, 164 Broadway. The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers: William Carter, James Gavin, N. C. Miller, Gwinn Anderson, William Madison and Charles Philley. Interment at Lindenwood.

WHERE EVES MAY EAT THEIR APPLES ALONE

Chicago to Have a Hotel Run by Women For Women.

BY FLORENCE JEFFORDS.

Chicago will soon have a magnificent hotel run by women for women. The famous Richelieu, on the lake front, is to be made new, and certainly nothing finer could be desired. The management will be under the supervision of four of Chicago's best known club and society women, Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. R. Kennedy Scobell, Mrs. Emma Parsons and Mrs. Byford Leonard.

The new hotel is to be a home for business women and women who are traveling through Chicago alone. The hotel is to be christened "The Laurel Club Hotel," after a club of that name, of which these four ladies are also the chief promoters. In connection with this hotel similar places are also to be established in New York and San Francisco.

The present Paris hotel for American women is located at Rue Chausee Dantin, 43, under the management of Mrs. Byford Leonard, who prepared the way there for this new enterprise some months ago.

The undertaking, through and through, if carried out as the projectors have planned it, will be one of the most gigantic ever attempted by women, but the ladies have reserve funds and are confident of their success.

In this Chicago woman's hotel women clerks, cooks, stewards and even women bootblacks and bellgirls will be employed. The only men about the place will be the porters, who will do the heavy work. The management will be careful and discriminating and the atmosphere refined and cultured.

Since the announcement of their purpose the projectors have had more applications for accommodations from business and professional women right in Chicago than could be taken care of.

Many applicants have stated that they wish to furnish their own rooms with possessions they already have. The management are not prepared just at present to decide as to how they will consider the above plan, for it was their original intention to furnish the building complete and launch it as a fully equipped hotel, but, the managers being women, of course they reserve the right to change their mind on this point.

A feature of the hotel will be the library, which will be fitted up with all the current literature.

Another benefit to be derived and one indispensable to ladies traveling alone through a large city will be the chaperon furnished for theater parties and observation tours, while for those fortunate enough to make the hotel their home social entertainments, such as high class concerts and musicales, literary programmes, etc., will be provided twice a month.

The same benefits are expected to be offered in the proposed New York and San Francisco hotels after the managers once have the Chicago enterprise under headway.

Each hotel is expected to pay its own running expenses, for everything is to be carried out on a thorough business basis. All the houses are to be known as "Laurel club" hotels, after the Chicago and Paris houses, and all are to be under one management.

In connection with the hotel these capable women have already started the Laurel club lunchroom in a delightful suit at the corner of State and Quincy streets, where a substantial meal can be had for 16 cents and less, and where, should a young woman fall ill during the heat of the day, she may be taken to the resting rooms and cared for and medical aid furnished her.

The membership fee of the Laurel club is 25 cents a year. The club is exclusively for working women, whose only requisites shall be that they are engaged in honorable employment and bear such personal qualifications as to satisfy the management of their gentility.

The new hotel will simply carry out the benevolent objects of the Laurel club on a larger scale. With such purposes, under such management and with such novel features as are contemplated Chicago's new hotel will doubtless attract widespread attention.

Not Forgiven.

The boats that pass up and down the Clyde pick up and deposit numbers of passengers at the various riverside piers, and Govan and Partick are both well frequented stopping places. A zealous Salvationist captain was on the boat one day, and, anxious to improve the occasion, he accosted a stout, weather beaten rustic with the well intentioned question, "Man, are ye forgiven?"

"Nae, nae!" cried the rustic, "I'm for Partick!"—Household Words

Green Pea Salad.

Green pea salad may be prepared from peas left over or from freshly cooked, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine. In the latter case cook a pint of young, tender peas with one tablespoonful of butter and as little salted water as possible, stirring constantly until the peas are tender and the water has evaporated. Set aside until cold. Thoroughly wash and drain a head of lettuce and arrange the leaves on a serving dish. Chop or cut a cup and a half of roast lamb or boiled chicken very fine and spread over the lettuce. Pour the peas over the meat. Mix together six tablespoonfuls of oil, half a teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste. Add gradually two or three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice or vinegar and pour over the salad. Sprinkle the whole with a few mint or tarragon leaves chopped very fine.

JEFF DAVIS IN GRANITE.

A Statue For the President of the Confederacy.

The first statue of Jefferson Davis has been modeled by George Julian Zolnay of New York. It is of heroic size, the figure being 7½ feet, and it will rest on a pedestal of suitable dimensions. This pedestal will be cut from a block of southern granite, and on its face will be engraved the name and age of Mr. Davis and probably also some suitable inscription. The entire expense of the statue has been borne by Mrs. Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Hayes of Colorado, the sole motive for its erection being the desire of the famous statesman's widow and daughter to pay respect to his memory in this enduring fashion.

The figure is represented as wearing the very clothes in which Mr. Davis was dressed when he was captured by a detachment of Michigan cavalry in the mountains of Alabama. Mrs. Davis has carefully preserved these interesting historical relics, and she placed them at Mr. Zolnay's disposal. Indeed, she furnished him with all the available material that could in any way aid him in his work, and the result is that the statue is a singularly true likeness of Mr. Davis.

The statue of Mr. Davis will be erected in Hollywood cemetery, Richmond, Va., and the ceremony of unveiling will take place during the early autumn. The statue of Miss Winnie Davis, which is also the work of Mr. Zolnay, will be erected near it on the Davis family plot, and the ceremony of unveiling it will take place on the same day. As the south takes great interest in these statues, and as the latter is a gift of the Daughters of the Confederacy, it is probable that the ceremonies will be of a public or semipublic character.

THE BOY WHO DIDN'T.

And Now He Probaby Regrets His Little Plan.

"Please, sir," said the office boy, "may I get away this afternoon?"

"What's wrong?" asked the great financier. "Is your grandmother dead?"

Little Willie had been taught that honesty was always the best policy. He was a good boy. He never sneaked stamps from his employer, and he never threw the pretty typewriter into fits by whispering to her that he had just seen a mouse scoot under her desk. Being a truthful boy, little Willie replied:

"No, sir, I ain't got no grandmother; but the club that's in first place is goin to play here today, and I'd like to see the game."

The old gentleman stared at him helplessly for a moment and then drew from his pocket $2, which he handed to the boy.

Ah, reader, you have already guessed that the great man felt in duty bound to encourage such frankness—but wait.

"Here," said Henry Hardrocks, "here's your week's wages. Don't come back any more. A boy that can't get up even a poor excuse on such an occasion as the present one would never amount to anything in this business."

Thus do we learn that in being its own reward virtue continues to have few competitors.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Only Proper.

"A dog is man's true and faithful friend," remarked the young woman who paused to pat a haughty looking mastiff on the head.

"Yas'm," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "It's only nach'l he should be. When we goes wifout meat on de table an shoes on our feet to save up money to buy him a tag, 'tain' no mo'n decent foh de dog to reciprocate some."—Washington Star.

The Second Wind Jammer.

"We've simply got enough of it!" protested the neighbors.

The man who had been running scales upon a trombone laughed gayly.

"Then this is what you might call the horn of plenty!" he exclaimed as by sudden inspiration.

Here he laughed again, although near to death.—Detroit Journal.

A number of people have taken advantage of this opportunity during the week, but there still many loads left.

Rev. Father LaFontaine, of St. Vincents Grove, was a visitor in the city yesterday, making the final arrangements for the picnic which is to be given at Academie grove on August 10th. The entertainment is for the benefit of the Catholic church at Acadamie and the event is arousing much interest here. The program will consist of bicycle races, addresses, games and a dinner. Academie is but a half mile from Robison park and can easily be reached from that resort.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bittenger and Mr. and Mrs Dixon Edgerton are at Spencerville, DeKalb county, today, attending a family reunion at the home of J. M. Hamilton, who is a brother of Mrs. Bittenger.

Barnett's orchestra tendered a charming serenade last evening to Mart Ankenbruck and Will Pothoff, the East Washington street grocers, and the music attracted a large number of listeners. The hosts provided a light lunch for the entertainers.

William McElfatrick, who was a resident of Fort Wayne many years ago, is now visiting his friends in the city, after an absence of thirty years. Mr. McElfatrick is a theatrical architect in New York and is on his way home from St. Louis.

A number of the immediate relatives of Mrs. Schane, of 305 South Harrison street, gathered at her home last evening, to remind her of the anniversary of her birth, which occurred sixty-six years ago. Mrs. Schane is still stronger than many ladies of half her age and enjoys life thoroughly.

The janitors have been appointed for the public schools and only two changes have been made. Mrs Rousel, who for some years was janitress of the Nebraska school, will be succeeded by Mrs. Besancon. Patrick O'Ryan has been appointed to take charge of the new Hoagland school and he will enter upon his duties at once. He was for a number of years a city policeman and of late has been a private watchman on South Calhoun street.

Miss Elizabeth Hedekin entertained a number of her friends yesterday in honor of her guest, Miss Cecelia Gilbert, of Ann Arbor, Mich. The rooms were decorated with large bunches of tiger lilies and sunflowers and the tables tastefully ornamented with pansies. Ices and cake were served by the Misses Huestis, Wood and Ohneck. A feature of the party was the magazine puzzle and the winner of the first prize was Miss Madeline Meegan, the winner of the second was Miss Rosella Meegan and the young lady who took the consolation was Miss Gilbert.

HYMENEAL.

Hue-Young.—A pretty wedding ceremony occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Van Gorder, of West Main street, last evening when Miss Ruby Young, a cousin of Mrs. Van Gorder, who has resided with her for a number of years, was united in marriage with Constant L. Hue, of Silverton, Col. The bride was handsomely gowned in a traveling dress of gray Henrietta cloth and carried a bouquet of pink and white peas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. L. Henson in the presence of a large number of guests. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Barlow attended the couple, who stood in front of a group of palms. The musical part of the evening was furnished by an orchestra. At the close of the ceremony the friends of the couple wished them all happiness, after which the whole party adjourned to the lawn, where an elaborate wedding supper was served. The tables were decorated with smilax and vases of flowers and the lawn was illuminated with many Chinese lanterns. Mr. and Mrs. Hue will visit in the city several days before leaving for their Colorado home.

Yaple-Russell.—The marriage of Miss Fannie Russell, of Coldwater, Mich., and Carl Yaple was solemnized at noon yesterday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. O. N. Heaton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. L. Henson in the presence of a few of the relatives and intimate friends of the couple. The wedding breakfast was served by Seidel. The couple will remain in the city for a few days before leaving for their future home in Lyndon.

Miss Mary Boester leaves Sunday for a visit at Milwaukee.

DISCOVERED BY A WOMAN.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Dreier & Bro.'s drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Russia Emerald Mines.

The emerald mines along the Tokova river, in the Russian province of Ekaterinoslav, are owned by the government. A peasant found the first one in 1839 in the roots of a tree that had been blown down. The government mined on its own account until 1862, then leased the mines to contractors, who have lost money on them, because the best emeralds lie near the surface. Those dug up from a depth are inferior. Good emeralds, in view of their growing scarcity, ought to hold their value well.

Revolving Toothbrush.

A revolving toothbrush has been invented by a West India lady. The brush portion is circular; it is attached to a handle that is spirally grooved and slides in a frame. By pressing the end of this handle—which projects beyond the frame—the brush revolves on discontinuing the pressure the handle springs back to its normal position, causing a further revolution of the brush, and so the movement is maintained.

Melodious Milk Maids.

In Switzerland a milkmaid gets better wages if gifted with a good voice, because it has been discovered that a cow will yield one-fifth more milk if soothed during milking by melody. It would be a very good idea for the milkmaids in this country to cultivate their voices, with a view of making their cows more profitable investments than in the past.

General Otis may be all right, but the expressions of the returned volunteers can hardly be regarded as a vote of confidence.

At least General Alger is the biggest man in Michigan.

Under all circumstances President McKinley is the shrewdest of politicians. He declined to be drawn into a game of golf the other day at that Lake Champlain resort.

The family feuds in eastern Kentucky result in some highly interesting functions now and then, but are not a marker to what that democratic feud promises to be by the time election day comes around.

While William Waldorf Astor is transferring his allegiance from the United States of America to the Kingdom of Great Britain, John Jacob Astor is raising and equipping another company for service in the Philippines. All of which shows that Willie Wallie is more of an ass even than he sets up to be.

One of the sailors who served on the cutter McCulloch in the battle of Manila bay, and who received one of the bronze medals voted by congress to those who were in that fight, was on shore leave in Baltimore recently, when a stranger approached him and asked to see the decoration. The landsman finally offered the brave Jack Tar $100 for his Dewey medal and the jackie promptly knocked him down. A policeman who arrived in time to pick up the would be purchaser refused to arrest the sailor.

A naval court martial has just decided that a man in the marine corps may make love while on duty A corporal in that service was tried recently for walking his beat with one arm around a pretty girl's waist, but has been pronounced "not guilty" of any act inconsistent with his duty. It is affirmed virtually that to make love to a pretty girl is one of the reserved rights which a man does not surrender when he enters the military and naval services. "The pursuit of happiness" mentioned in the Declaration of Independence as an inalienable right is thus vindicated. This is as it should be. It must be recognized that Mars was ever partial to Venus, and Venus was always readily bewitched by brass buttons.

The proposition to enlist the persons engaged in the Kentucky mountain feuds in the army is thought by the Kansas City Star to be an excellent one. It was thus that the British government secured peace and safety for the tormented Scotch border. By enlisting the turbulent Highlanders in regiments of their own, retaining their picturesque costumes, their wild music and their pipers, the English government settled a vexed problem at home and secured a considerable body of as fine soldiers as ever marched under the British flag. In like manner the Hatfields and McCoys, the Whites and the Morrises might rally to the united flags of their respective families and of the United Sttattes. Constitutionally brave, accustomed to arms, perfect shots, hardy and enduring, they would leave their mountain fastnesses to uphold the honor of the United States in every quarter of the world. The charging cry of the Martins, the war whoop of the Philpots would strike terror to the enemies of the American union, and peace would settle down on the hills of Clay and Breathitt. The surplus fighting talent of Kentucky would thus be placed where it would do the most good.

INGERSOLL WAS SORRY.

Eli Perkins, in a letter just sent to the New York Sun, gives this interesting reminiscence of the late Colonel Ingersoll:

"When I was writing my 'Kings of Platform and Pulpit,' Robert Ingersoll kindly sent me what he called his greatest lecture, 'Liberty of Man, Woman and Child,' with many other of his most brilliant sketches. 'In using my speeches,' he wrote, 'do not use any assault I may have thoughtlessly made on Christ, which I foolishly made in my early life. With Renan, I believe Christ was the one perfect man. 'Do unto others' is the perfection of religion and morality It is the summum bonum. It was loftier than the teachings of Socrates, Plato, Mohammed, Moses or Confucius. It superseded the commandments that Moses claimed to have gotten from God, for with Christ's do-unto-others there could be no murder, lying, covetousness or war. It superseded Greek patriotism, Roman fortitude or Anglo-Saxon bravery, for with do-unto-others, bravery and patriotism would not be needed.'"

NORTHERN INDIANA NOTES.

The lime kilns of Markle are abandoned. It is said this is due to the trust.

Three Kosciusko county boys have lost their lives in the war in the Philippines.

David Johns, who escaped from the Auburn jail last Friday, has been recaptured.

David Noe, a citizen of Wells county since it was a wilderness, is dead at the age of 82.

The Maxinkuckee assembly has closed. For next year a new tabernacle, water works, boat landings and bath houses are planned.

While thrashing on Ed. Turner's farm in Wells county, Tuesday afternoon, stacks of wheat and oats caught fire from the engine and were destroyed. One thousand bushels of grain were burned.

Two mysterious disappearances are disturbing Wells county people. A twenty-year-old son of Chris Stogsdale, living south of Bluffton, went out Monday morning to drive in the cows The cows came all right, but the boy has not since been seen. Sunday morning Crittenden Close, living in Bluffton, started out on his wheel for a ride, telling his brother he would return in time for breakfast. His whereabouts have been involved in mystery since.

RESOLUTIONS.

Inasmuch as it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst one of our beloved workers; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Banner Union Sunday school, do hereby extend to the bereaved members of the family our heartfelt sympathy for the loss of their beloved son and brother, Carl Kinse.

The death of one so good and patient is a loss not only to the family, but to the Sunday school and community.

Realizing that his life was that of a true Christian we have the satisfaction of the thought that he has now gone to his reward in heaven.

NELLIE BERGER IS FOUND.

HER ABDUCTOR IS LANDED IN MICHIGAN CITY.

Was Caught With the Girl in a Farm House in the Southern Part of the State.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 3.—Miss Nellie Berger, the seventeen-year-old daughter of William Berger, of near Rochester, Ind., who was kidnaped two weeks ago by Clyde Jones, alias Clyde Johnson, was found at the home of Wilbur Acton, near Freetown, twenty miles southwest of here, yesterday. As the Acton family was sitting down to dinner Sheriff Garst, accompanied by Editor Barnhart, of the Rochester Sentinel, arrested Jones, the abductor, before the later had time to escape.

About two weeks ago Jones, alias Johnson, called at the Berger home, in Fulton county, near Rochester, and asked Mr. Berger if he had a daughter who would come to his home and help his wife can fruit and said he would pay $3.50 per week for her work. Jones claimed to have recently moved into the neighborhood After some hesitation Mr. Berger allowed his daughter to go, advising her that she should write him immediately on her arrival She left with the stranger and had not been heard of until yesterday.

The father, becoming alarmed after his daughter's continued silence, inquired of the neighbors as to where Jones lived and found out that no such person had moved into that neighborhood. Berger immediately informed the officers and rewards amounting to nearly $1,000 were offered for the arrest of Jones.

Many false rumors were started and eagerly traced to their source by hundreds of neighbors and friends. At last Sheriff Garst traced them to Freetown, where Jones had secured work hauling gravel on the new pikes. Miss Berger had been taken out with him in the gravel wagon that morning.

Sheriff Garst took the abductor last night to Michigan City, where he was placed in prison. The people in the vicinity of Rochester declare they will hang him if caught. Miss Berger was taken to her home last evening by Barnhart. When found she was scantily attired.

She told a pitiful story of how she had been treated since leaving home. She said the nights had been spent in the woods and at farm houses, where Jones claimed that Miss Berger was his sister. He threatened several times to blow her brains out if she said a word to anyone. She made up her mind, she said, to tell Mrs. Acton, at whose home they were found, all about Jones and his crime last night.

Miss Berger is only seventeen years old and has borne an excellent reputation around Rochester, where she lived. Her parents are well to do, having recently inherited several thousand dollars.

Jones, her abductor, is wanted, it is said, for horse stealing in Michigan. Before kidnaping Miss Berger he had succeeded in abducting a girl at West Liberty, Ind., but she escaped.

HAPPENINGS AT WINONA.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

Winona Lake Aug. 3.—Last night was Warsaw Business Men's evening. Every place of business in Warsaw was closed at 7 o'clock and everybody adjourned to Winona park. About 1,000 people came over on the train.

The College of Music concert was fine. All had a splendid time and returned home more than ever in love with Winona.

Captain Raddick will take his boys' club out on the lake this evening for an excursion and tomorrow evening they will attend the Edison projectoscope entertainment in a body, their first appearance as a club.

There will be a slight change in the program tomorrow evening. Instead of the lecture by Miss Mary H. Krout, Dr. Robert E. Lyons will speak. We do not know the doctor's subject, but any subject he may choose will not only be full of interest but helpful. We know Dr. Lyons.

Tomorrow evening the Edison projectoscope. An evening of living, moving pictures; our army in actual battle in the Philippines; Admiral Dewey's great naval battle in Manila bay; Colonel Roosevelt's Rough Riders' charge up San Juan hill, and hundreds of other pictures, all in motion as perfectly natural as on the day the event took place. In many respects this is the best thing on the Winona program, as it is something that interests everybody.

Alton Packard tonight, and this means an evening of pictures, humor and carricature. Mr. Packard is a cartoonist abounding in originalities. He selects a piece of green chalk, makes a few passes, and some promiscuous daubs of green appear on the paper; a dash of blue and white, sky and fleecy clouds; three strokes more and there is a farm house in the distance; a little red here, brown there, yellow and black, and there stands before us a beautiful summer landscape. And so it goes on; the "new woman," the countryman, the dude, the man-about town, are all pictured in turn, and their fads and follies with them. These comic pictures he draws before his auditors with lightning like rapidity and they bring laughter to every lookeron. Yet with every comic picture there comes to us lessons—helpful instructions

Rev. Ezra S. Newcomb, D. D., will return Saturday morning. Subject: "Scrooby to Plymouth Rock, in the Path of the Pilgrims."

Some of the blind fish recently put into the tank came to an untimely death at the hands of, or rather, the mouth of a catfish It afterwards transpired, however, that the blind fish didn't agree with Mr. Catfish any more than Jonah did with the whale

Rev Sam Jones remarked to a friend of ours yesterday, "I know summer resorts and Chautauquas, but they are simply not in it for location and beauty as compared with Winona. Winona is great and has a great future."

William Jennings Bryan will lecture here Wednesday afternoon, August 9, on "Pending Problems." Mr. Bryan is known as "the silver tongued orator," and is one of the striking characters of our country He speaks at 1:30 p. m. and will doubtless have a large hearing.

Landscape Gardener Scribner has been investigating and experimenting for the purpose of bringing out some new varieties of the Canna plant. He now has fifteen new varieties, all of them beautiful, which we think will attract more than local attention and become quite popular. The colors are red, yellow and orange, finely blended. He will name it "Winona."

Dr. E. S. Scott, of Reedsburg, Wis., arrived yesterday Dr. Scott is one of the directors of the Winona Assembly and was its first superintendent.

AN EDUCATIONAL VALUE.

The reason that the kindergarten is the best method of training the young mind is because it entertains while instructing, and the reason why Buffalo Bill's Wild West is the most successful and popular of entertainments is for exactly the same reasons. The scenes representing the early settlement of the western part of our country are entertaining and are object lessons of great value of giving life and motion to those things we have read of in the histories of our school days. The students of anthropology never saw a congregation of people so varied and diverse as is gathered from the four quarters of the globe in this one arena and the opportunities to study by comparison are unequalled elsewhere, and at the same time the value of the study is enhanced by the exhibitions of the various modes of life in peace, in war and in their pastimes as given by these people. Current history, yet unwritten for the school boy or girl, is not neglected, because one of the greatest features of the Wild West this season is the battle of San Juan Hill as presented as a part of this entertainment. Grandchildren of the children of today will read of this famous charge of American soldiers fighting in humanity's cause and will listen with eyes wide open and patriotic hearts pulsating to the story of how Buffalo Bill presented an accurate living picture of that battle and how the real heroes of the war were actual participants in the mimic scene and were honored by the applause of the thousands of Americans who daily witnessed it. For this one scene the names of Cody and Salisbury will go down to children long years hence and their enterprise as amusement caterers will be remembered and appreciated. All the features of the Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders that have appealed so successfully to the public in the past will be retained, and as they have been improved upon greatly since last seen here, they will in many respects appear almost new.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Achilles was invulnerable in every part of the body save his heel. The myth runs that he was rendered invulnerable by being dipped in the river Styx in infancy, the heel by which he was held being the only part not submerged and therefore retaining its mortal weakness.

Everyone has some weak spot in his physical organism, and that weak spot is the invariable attacking point of disease. No man is stronger than that weakest spot in him. We see great robust looking men go down like ninepins, at a touch of disease, and wonder at it. It is simply the wound in the weak spot, the vulnerable heel of Achilles.

It is the office of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to build up the weak places, to strengthen the weak organs of the body. It does this on Nature's own plan of nourishment. Proper food properly assimilated makes a weak man strong. But the man is only an aggregation of parts, so that the strong man means strength of all parts, heart, lungs, liver, nerves, etc. "Golden Medical Discovery" puts into Nature's hands the material by which the stomach is strengthened, the blood purified, the nerves nourished, the lungs vitalized. It makes the weak strong and the sick well. It contains no alcohol or other intoxicant.

Mr. R. J. McKnight, of Cades, Williamsburg Co., S. C., writes: "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years so bad at times I could not leave my bed. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of 'Pellets,' and to-day my health is good."

COMMITTEE IS PREPARING FOR A BIG TIME.

Hon. J. M. Robinson Has Consented to Speak—May be a Balloon Ascension.

The joint committee of the Trades and Labor council and the Knights of Labor met last evening and discussed arrangements for the big Labor day celebration to be held at Swinney park. The committee has decided to keep the people in the city if possible and business men will be asked to assist in making the event equal to those celebrations given less than a decade ago, when the streets were thronged with workingmen and their friends. The celebration will be advertised in cities about Fort Wayne and an effort will be made to secure excursion rates. There will be an athletic program and suitable prizes will be iven the winners. The music committee reported that the Olympia band had been engaged for the day. Among the attractions it is probable there will be a balloon ascension.

A letter received from Hon. James M. Robinson informed the committee that he had accepted the invitation to deliver the address at Swinney park, and it is probable that Rev. T. J. Johnston, of Simpson M. E. church, will be asked to deliver the address in the evening. The following letter will be sent to business men:

"Fort Wayne, Ind., August 2, 1899.—Labor day, 1899, will be celebrated by the Trades and Labor council, Knights of Labor and organized labor of Fort Wayne in general at Swinney park, Monday, September 4, 1899. The celebration takes place in the city. The festivities of 1896 and 1898 were held at Robison park, and the expenses were borne mainly by the street railway company. This year the celebration will be entirely independent of Robison park. Swinney park is easy of access by the entire population of the city. The event will be free and will be conducted both day and night, and the amusements will be of an elaborate and highly entertaining order. In order to give this entertainment the Labor day committee has authorized Edward Miller, C. F. Baker, H. A. Rogers and E. S. Baker to solicit funds through the Labor day program, and it will be a pleasure to organized labor to have all who are approched patronize said program as liberally as possible, because from it the main cost of the celebration will be defrayed.

"Swinney park is easy of access, and there are thousands of people in the city who will hail with pleasure another Labor day celebration in the limits of the city, in a location so central, beautiful and historic, without the necessity for street car fare to attend, nor money with which to enjoy the festivities.

"In order to give the event it is necessary to raise a substantial fund, and as the committee does not intend to solicit in any other manner except through the program of the day, the business men of the city will be asked to help with the celebration only by patronizing the Labor day program and by doing this they will materially assist in building up the fund for the occasion. Therefore, we hope you will respond liberally when our solicitors call.

"For the Labor day committee:
"Thos. W. Phillips, Chairman.
"William Schultz, Secretary."

THE PRESIDENT'S MOVEMENTS.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 3.—The president was out early this morning and about 9 o'clock went for a long walk towards the lake, accompanied by Dr. Rixey. Mrs. McKinley's health continues to improve. Miss Duncan, the president's niece, who had been confined to her room with a cold for four days, has recovered and was out last evening for the first time. The president said today that he had heard with great regret of the death of Colonel Hawkins, whose gallantry in the Philippines was so marked as to command special mention by his superior officers. The president expressed deep sympathy with the family of Colonel Hawkins and with the men of the regiment he so conspicuously commanded.

NEW POTATOES.

How to Treat the Summer Potato. Parisian Practices.

The summer potato requires entirely different treatment from the winter tuber, which has grown stale and strong from long storage. There are now many delicious ways in which this vegetable may be cooked which are not desirable methods later when the potatoes are no longer fresh, says the New York Tribune.

One reason why new potatoes are so much better than old ones is because they are not peeled and the starchy coat on the outside, as well as the saline salts of the vegetable, are thus preserved. It is a mistake to peel a potato before it is boiled. Keep a stiff little vegetable scrubbing brush on hand. Put the potatoes in cold water and scrub them clean with the brush. In summer throw potatoes with their jackets on into boiling water and peel them as soon as they are boiled and serve them.

A distinction should be made between the waxen, half ripe potato of early summer and the fully ripe, fresh tuber, which is a potato in perfection. Half ripe potatoes are never wholesome, though the Germans prefer these immature vegetables for their favorite salad.

It is a mistake to use half ripe potatoes or to use cold potatoes when freshly cooked potatoes can be obtained. The best potato salad can hardly be recommended on the score of wholesomeness, yet it should be remembered that the condiments used in its preparation assist digestion, and that a potato salad is therefore far more digestible than a half ripe, waxen boiled potato simply dressed in butter.

Parisian cooks seldom use cold potatoes. When they wish to cook potatoes rapidly for a garnish to meat for breakfast, they usually cut the raw potatoes in small ornamental shapes of uniform size, which will cook quickly. Sometimes the potatoes are cut into julienne shaped pieces about the thickness of two matches and the length of a short parlor match. More often, however, they are shaped into small balls, or "pears," with scoops. A good steel potato scoop, cutting a ball of three-quarters of an inch in diameter, costs about 40 cents. It should have a small hole in the center of the bowl to admit air.

The one for pins is covered with puffed silk. That for hairpins has the center part covered with net or lace, the meshes of which the hairpins can easily penetrate. THE MARKET DULL AND WEAK.

LIVERPOOL CABLES HAD A LOWER TENDENCY.

This Was Offset by Crop Damage Reports in the Northwest—The Markets in General.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Early trading in wheat today was influenced by an unlooked-for drain in Liverpool cables. The English market was ⅛@¼c lower, notwithstanding yesterday's advance here, and the local market was depressed accordingly. September opened ¾c lower at 69½@69¾c. The decline at Liverpool was due, it was claimed, to more favorable weather in England and on the continent. There was no selling pressure of importance, and opening prices were the lowest of the morning.

Continued reports of damage to northwest wheat fields by recent storms checked the decline. It was estimated that at least $1,000,000 worth of growing wheat, covering an area of about 150,000 acres, much of it in the Red River valley, had been almost entirely destroyed.

September advanced steadily to 70c when realizing sales caused a reaction to 69¼69⅞c. Northwest receipts were light, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 220 cars against 392 last week and 77 a year ago.

Chicago receipts were 94 cars, 10 of contract grade.

Corn was firm and higher, with a good trade. There was considerable buying on the continued hot weather west. Cables were stronger and receipts light, 348 cars. September opened unchanged at 30⅜@30½c and advanced to 30⅞@31c.

Oats were dull but strong, though good harvesting reports caused a little easiness around the opening. Receipts were 275 cars. September opened a shade lower at 19¼@19⅜c, advanced to 19⅝c and reacted to 19½c.

Provisions were dull but firm. Yellow fever reports were not so depressing and hog prices in the local market were higher. Shorts bought moderately.

September pork opened 2½c higher at $8.32½, advanced to $8.50 and reacted to $8.42½.

September lard opened 2½c higher at $5.30, advanced to $5.35 and reacted to $5.32½.

September ribs opened a shade higher at $4.95@4.97½ and advanced to $5.02½@5.05.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 3.—The stock market was unsettled and decidedly irregular at the opening. The specialties generally advanced sharply, Sugar leading. The railroads on the other hand were inclined to sag in spite of advances in prices in London. Great Western debentures fell over 2 points. On the other hand Great Western preferred A rose a point and St. Louis Southwestern preferred a large fraction.

Brooklyn Transit, Rock Island and People's Gas were raided by the bears. Their success encouraged them to extend their ventures and Sugar, Steel and Wire, Manhattan, Tobacco and the Grangers dipped decidedly. United States Rubber was lifted 1½, but did not regain all the rise. Chicago Great Western debentures gained their losses.

Business became very light, but there was a gradually hardening tendency. Tobacco, Tennesee Coal and Colorado Fuel were strong and ruled from 1 to 2 points above last night.

A few inconspicuous shares dropped sharply, including St Paul and Duluth, Pittsburg, C., C. and St. Louis preferred and Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville preferred. The market eased off again before noon.

Sales to noon, 207,126 shares.

Most of the bond purchases were in the speculative issues. Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf firsts rose to 65½c.

The bears were busy in the final hour and carried prices generally downwards. Steel and Wire and Glucose, Sugar refining declined about 2 points from the best. The recession in many railroad stocks approached a point and bids were lowered without bringing out much stock.

Tobacco rallied again; Tennessee Coal rose to 79, and covering by shorts brought prices up slightly. The Pressed Steel Car stocks dropped about a point. Brooklyn Transit was suddenly marked up to 116, causing a scramble among shorts.

Surgery from Hens.

Port Jervis Special New York World: Mrs. George E. Dingley of Huguenot had six sick hens. A diagnosis showed the trouble to be in their crops. With the assistance of a farm hand, Edward Blood, she gave each hen a light dose of chloroform, and, cutting open their crops, removed the cause of the trouble. Mrs. Dingley washed out the crops, greased them with vaseline, and sewed up the wounds with silk thread. Every hen survived the operation. Mrs. Dingley also raised 115 chicks from a setting of nine hens. This she accomplished by taking each brood of young from the hens immediately after they were hatched and placing fresh eggs beneath the patient hens.

Life Plant.

There is a strange wild plant in Guadaloupe called the "life plant." If a leaf be broken off and pinned by the stem to the wall of a warm room each of the angles between the curves of the leaf margin soon throws out a number of very white tentacles or roots, and soon a tiny new plant begins to sprout, and in the course of a week or two is two or three inches in height. When the old leaf shrivels the new plant is cut off and planted. The plant bears curious red and yellow blossoms.

Diamonds in Pretoria.

The area of the Pretoria diamond fields continues to be increasing by discoveries in almost every direction, and the yield from the extensive wash is reported as highly encouraging, the yield from some of the mines for the first three months of the year ranging as high as 6,000 carats.

This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.

Track and Field Contests Between Leading American and English College Teams—Differences In Methods and Conditions—Individual Records.

BY LEO ETHERINGTON.

All who are interested in athletic sports are looking forward to the international track and field games that are to take place on the 22d of July between teams representating the universities of Harvard and Yale on the one side and Cambridge and Oxford on the other. The American team will spend the time between their arrival in England and the day of the games at Brighton, the famous watering place on the south coast, where the air is very bracing. The experience of the Yale team which competed against the Oxonians a few years ago has not been forgotten. At that time the American athletes spent too much time in England before the games and likewise made the mistake of spending the intervening days at Oxford. This year the visitors will have only time enough to get rid of their sea legs before the contests take place and should be in good shape.

Hundred yard dash, C. R. Thomas (Oxford) and A. L. Hind (Cambridge); quarter mile run, A. M. Hollins (Oxford) and C. G. Davison (Cambridge); half mile run, H. E. Graham (Oxford) and C. F. W. Struben (Cambridge); mile run, R. B. Arnold and A. L. Dawson (Oxford) and A. Hunter (Cambridge); three mile run, A. R. G. Wilberforce (Oxford) and H. W. Workman and A. Winterbotham (Cambridge); high jump, H. S. Adair and E. N. V. Brooke (Oxford); long jump, G. C. Vassall (Oxford) and L. R. O. Bevan (Cambridge); hammer throwing, J. D. Greenshields (Oxford) and L. O. T. Baines (Cambridge); 120 yard hurdle race, H. R. Parkes (Oxford) and W. Paget-Tomlinson (Cambridge).

T. R. FISHER, CAPTAIN YALE TEAM.

Dawson, who will take part in the mile run, is the hero of the sensational championship mile run in the intercollegiate games last year. The Cantabs and Oxonians are not employing a professional trainer, but are under the care of C. N. Jackson, treasurer of Hertford college, Oxford.

In England it is the custom to run with the right shoulder to the pole, which is the opposite of the way in which the track is circled in America. The Yale and Harvard runners practiced the new way before they left on the steamer, so as to get used to it. Another matter in which the Britishers differ from us is in the use of fixed hurdles, and they run the event on the turf. When the Yale men in 1891 ran over these fixed obstacles, it was found that the possibility of a serious fall, not possible when movable hurdles are used, had the effect of making them clear the sticks with more than enough room, thus running a slower race. This year the Britishers have consented to the use of movable obstacles.

On paper the merits of the two teams are very even. Comparison by reference to past records is very uncertain in this case, however, for the Americans will be competing under entirely new climatic conditions and the intervarsity games between Cambridge and Oxford took place in very unfavorable weather last March. Therefore the Englishmen are almost certain to do better than they did then, while it is very doubtful if the Americans can equal their previous efforts.

The 120 yard hurdle race promises to be one of the closest of the contests. Fox of Harvard and Fincke of Yale have records of 15¼ seconds for this event, and Paget-Tomlinson of Cambridge has gone the distance in 16 seconds on a wet grass track. Parkes of Oxford is a good man in this event, as is Halliwell of Harvard.

The 100 yard run was won by C. R. Thomas of Oxford in the joint games in the slow time of 10 2-5 seconds. Since then he has covered the distance in even time. Hind of Cambridge can probably make it in 10 1-5 seconds. Blount and Fisher of Yale and Quinlan of Harvard are the three men from whom a choice will be made for our team. Blount won the event at the intercollegiate games in 10 1-5 seconds and is said to be equal to 10 seconds now.

Burke of Harvard is the bright particular star in the quarter mile dash and should win that event with ease. He can make the distance in 49 2-5 seconds when in good shape. Boardman of Yale is good for 49 4-5 seconds in the event. Hollins of Oxford made the distance in 51 2-5 seconds on a cold, damp day, while Davison of Cambridge is a 51 seconds man.

Graham of Cambridge is the best man the Britishers have for the half mile. His record is 1:50 3-5, but he can do several seconds better in good weather. Burke of Harvard has made the half in 1:55, but was all out in 1:58 4-5 at the recent intercollegiate games. Adams of Yale won the event in 1:57 2-5 in the Yale-Harvard dual games.

Spitzer of Yale can cover the mile in 4:25, while H. B. Clarke is another good one at the distance. Hunter of Cambridge has a record of 4:35, from which he can probably clip 4 or 5 seconds.

Rice of Harvard jumped 6 feet 1 inch at the intercollegiate games, while Waller of Yale and Rotch of Harvard can do 5 feet 11 inches at the high jump. Adair of Oxford is the best the Englishmen have, and his record is only 5 feet 8¼ inches.

L. C. Vassall of Oxford is in a class by himself in the long jump. His record is 23 feet 3 inches, which is nearly a foot better than any Harvard or Yale man can do. Daly of Harvard took third place in the intercollegiate games with 22 feet 4½ inches and is the best on the visiting team.

Boal of Harvard outranks any man the Britishers can put forward in the hammer throw. His record is 132 feet 9 inches, while Greenshields, the best of the opponents, has never done better than 110 feet 1 inch.

Mr. Sherrill of Yale, who has done much of the preliminary work in bringing the teams together and who has accompanied the college men to England to look after their interests, thinks the Americans have very good chances of winning the hammer throw, the high jump, the quarter and the half mile. The Britishers promise well for the broad jump, the three mile and the one mile events. This leaves the 100 yard dash and the 120 yard hurdle race problematical.

The games will take place at the Queen's club grounds, London, on which the light and dark blues are wont to hold their annual track and field sports. They are situated in the Kensington district of the British metropolis and are in many respects ideal athletic grounds. The turns in all but one case are sharp and the track is far from oval. The running track is one third of a mile in circumference. There is ample room for the 100 yard dash, but not for the 220 yard run, which event is not commonly contested in England.

It is interesting to note that while the British team will contain the flower of the athletes in their colleges there are in American universities men who hold records surpassing those of the members of the Yale-Harvard team in every event save one.

Good Form In Golf.

Good form in golf does not necessarily mean a series or combination of graceful attitudes, nor does a bad style always follow exaggerated crooks of the elbow and bending of the legs. Back of all this comes the real and important essential, the true golfing swing. The clubhead must be made to travel in the line with the flight of the ball and with sufficient speed at the instant of impact. The perfect arc of the circle must be maintained, and so long as this is accomplished the peculiarities of the angles with arms and legs does not make any particular difference. As the finer points of the game become mastered by its devotees in this country more attention is given to the laying out of links. On most of the courses throughout the United States the distances between the holes are not conducive to good golf—that is, a man may play a hole perfectly and yet not defeat an opponent who has made a mistake on either his first or second shot.

Roosevelt In Athletics.

Governor Roosevelt is endeavoring to have an all American team of athletes formed to represent the United States at the Paris Exposition next year. The team will not only consist of track and field men, but rowing, water polo and swimming experts will be included.

How Reiff Rides.

Johnny Reiff, who is after Tod Sloane's laurels as a jockey in England, rides at 82 pounds and is considered a wonder. Last year he made a great record in California. Messrs. Duke and Wishard secured an option on his services. Trainer McCafferty, who knows him well, said of Sloane's new rival: "Johnny is a very clever little boy, bright, dark eyed and a favorite. He has been riding only a year, but has scored many successes and is a thorough horseman. He is patient, gentle and diplomatic in treating his mount. The Reiff brothers, John and Lester, have abandoned the short stirrup straps and other extreme points of the American style of riding. Johnny is now winning by adopting a safe compromise between the English and American styles. Given first class mounts, he is sure to make a record."

Educational Influence.

"Going abroad is education, isn't it?"

"I think so; it makes people who come back undertake to educate the people who haven't been abroad."—Chicago Record.

UTILIZING CRIMINALS.

A Novel Suggestion In Regard to the Philippines.

A western lawyer, A. J. Sawyer, recommends that the criminals of the United States be sent to the Philippines as missionaries. We are spending millions of money annually, says he, in keeping in our midst the criminals, in maintaining jails, prisons and other places for confining the criminal classes, which are nothing more or less than schools and colleges where crimes are taught and the graduates rendered more proficient in the art of crime. In my judgment, all the criminals who are found among us should be sent where they can get all the barbarism they want. Nearly all nations have practiced banishment until recently, and many of the most enlightened governments are still practicing it for certain high crimes. England started her empire in America and Australia by it. We are maintaining hundreds of public nuisances, monasteries of malignity, for the more complete eradication of virtue in the depraved than is otherwise possible. We have thousands of convicts who to our civilization are mischievous and dangerous. To the Filipino they would be an invaluable help. They would become industrious missionaries, better than Christian missionaries for being more like the rogues among whom they would be sent. They would understand each other better than either of them now understand the missionaries.

During our civil war crime almost ceased throughout the country, because the war created a demand for the criminal and made him useful. Colonization of criminals would do exactly the same thing. Would it not be better for civilization if the treatment which we apply to missionaries and criminals should be exactly reversed? Let us send the criminal to the heathen and place the missionaries under that great forcing process, the penitentiary, with such changes, of course, in the institution as would adapt it to its new inmates. Let us adhere to the principle that righteousness, like crime, is the best cultivated by gathering large quantities of it together in one spot. We would then intensify piety at home, as we now intensify crime. If it would bring out our missionaries as much better as it now makes our criminals worse, our home righteousness would be irresistible.

One reason why the heathen cannot get along better with the missionaries is that the ethics of the missionary are too high for them. Their self esteem will not suffer them to believe that there is anybody better than they are. It has been wisely said that "they cannot trust a man who does not mean to cheat them, who looks upon the restraints of civilization as too few instead of too many and upon the methods of industry as being too sordid instead of too honest, who takes no delight in stealing, does not know what it is even to lie, owns only one wife and never whips her." In their inability to comprehend him they unconsciously believe that he must keep on hand some concealed stock of deeper villainy than they have found out in him, and they will not ethically and aesthetically mix with him. They are like the American Indians in the presence of the Puritan and Saxon, between whom there could be no blood fellowship, nothing but extermination from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

WAR MONUMENT.

Commemorating Our Victories Over Spain.

Philip Louis Sarti, a Brooklyn architect, wants to commemorate our victories in the recent war with Spain and submits plans for a pretentious monument. The plans provide for a building 162 feet high, surmounted by a crystal sphere 240 feet in diameter, a true reproduction of the warship Olympia to crown the monument. If constructed in Battery park, the monument, by means of the crystal sphere illuminated with electricity at night, would throw a moonday light over the entire bay.

Around the sphere a garden is provided for. The ground floor, according to the plans, contains four large public halls with eight entrances. Four great staircases lead to the first floor or promenade, and from this floor four other stairways and elevators for ascending to the upper floors. Provisions are also made for dining, billiard and reading rooms, and within the great sphere an immense public hall is provided for, with a floor surface of 113,760 square feet.

THE AUTOMOBILE GIRL.

She Has Come to Stay, For Her Fad Is Ultra Fashionable.

By Annette Crawford

The automobile girl is here. Here is the very swellest of fads, the most exclusive of sports. Almost anyone may bicycle or golf, but it takes a long, fat purse to indulge in an automobile.

Thus early in its career fashion has claimed the automobile for its very own. The American automobile girl is prompt to appear in the field. Only her Parisian sisters were before her. In London it is still considered bad taste for a woman to ride unaccompanied by a gentleman in a motor carriage, and no English woman of standing has yet been bold enough to defy public sentiment on this point.

But the American girl long ago that is, months ago adopted the automobile cab for shopping and calling purposes. Now she has dispensed with the liveried driver and taken the steering lever into her own hands. In her park phaeton or cute little dog cart, propelled either by electricity or gasoline, she glides fearlessly along the avenue and boulevards, very much at ease and looking sweet and happy and altogether charming.

The bicycle girl, with her hot, flushed face; the golf girl, with her short skirts and dusty boots, and the yachting girl, with her stringy front hair, suffer sadly when compared with this queenly young creature who leans gracefully back against the thick cushions in all the finery of morning attire and sweeps noiselessly past.

It is the ability to wear the finest of gowns while indulging in this sport that has decided fashion in favor of the automobile. It is a fad which a woman may pursue and at the same time look her prettiest. So it has come to stay.

Newport is just now the principal habitat of the automobile girl. The smooth shaded boulevards of that fashionable seaport are fairly alive with horseless vehicles of every sort. Stand at any point on Bellevue avenue in the afternoon and you can count them by the dozens.

They may also be seen along the ocean boulevard which connects Long Branch with Elberon, Seabright and Asbury Park on the populous Jersey coast. Chicago heiresses have gladly welcomed them, and Prairie avenue glistens with the nickel and varnish of the self propelled carriages.

This season the automobile girl is a novelty; next year she will be an established fact, surprising only to people from the remote ruralities.

Her conveyance is a light and graceful carriage, with wire spoked wheels and pneumatic rubber tires. It moves to the right or to the left at the slightest touch of the nickel plated lever.

Sometimes the fair owner commits the guiding of the machine to her groom or to her escort, but that is not very often. She can drive the automobile herself, and she has a just contempt for all bicycles, trucks and ice wagons. The pressure of her toe upon a pin sets the gong to ringing, and a twist of the lever stops the carriage. She need not worry lest her carriage runs away with her, and she has no fear of iron shod heels suddenly appearing over the dashboard.

The horsewoman, the bicyclist and all the rest of them must take a back seat, for the girl with the automobile has come to stay.

She goes shopping in the morning hours and permits the machine to stand in front of the shops without having the slightest fear of finding it tearing down the street when she returns. She travels in state to make calls in the afternoon, and if she will she can take a spin into the country. She can load her carriage with golf sticks and with her companions hurry out to the clubhouse and spend the afternoon on the links. She has no horses to worry her with the thought that they are hot and uncomfortable.

The automobile needs neither feeding nor watering. If the battery is strong enough it will easily carry her a score of miles and bring her back again without additional charges of electricity.

It will not be many years before there will be little stations all along the principal highways where automobiles can be charged with motive power and sent whizzing on their way.

Can't Shake It Off.

"Yes, that's his fad. He is a good surgeon, but for the last ten years he has studied nothing but warts."

"Well, that's a sort of thing that grows on one, you know."

HOW TO KEEP COOL.

Valuable Suggestions For Avoiding Heat Prostration.

First of all, keep the brain cool. Wear the lightest possible covering on the head. The cork helmets, such as are worn in tropical climates, are the best summer headgear. These may be made to keep the wearer still cooler by placing in them a moist sponge, which, indeed, may also be attached to the interior of any style of hat. Do not worry.

When you rise from bed on hot summer mornings, take a cold bath. Now there are few simple things in life that are less understood than the fine art—for it is a fine art—of bathing. Most people spend from half an hour to an hour every time they bathe. That is not the kind of bathing I mean. The cold bath in the morning should consist merely of one plunge into cold water.

Avoid as far as possible the heat of cooking. Cook no more than you can help, and if possible let what little cooking you do be done in the open air.

Take no alcoholic drinks or other stimulants of any kind. Injurious as alcoholic stimulants are at all times, except in certain diseased conditions of the system, when ordered by a thoroughly competent and conscientious physician, they are more than usually deleterious in hot weather. Nevertheless that is the very time of year when the consumption of them is greatest. To quench the intense thirst which is an inseparable accompaniment of a high temperature many persons have recourse to beer and other alcoholic drinks. There could be no greater mistake. There is only one fluid that will quench thirst, and that fluid is water. Every other known liquid tends to increase thirst rather than to assuage it. Still the devotees of King Alcohol continue to pour his fiery potations down their already parched throats in hot weather. That is the surest possible way not to keep cool and to predispose yourself to a heat stroke or sunstroke.

Sponging the entire surface of the body with tepid water, to which a little bay rum or alcohol has been added, is very cooling and may be practiced frequently during the day, alcohol, when applied externally, being quite as beneficial as it is injurious when absorbed into the circulation through the medium of the stomach.

No two people should sleep together in hot weather. Every individual should have a bed to himself or herself.

Though drinking iced water tends to lower the temperature of the body, yet if we drink it at all we are apt to be tempted to an immoderate use of it, which is to be decidedly reprehended. It so lowers the temperature of the stomach as to temporarily check digestion, and its effects are injurious in other ways.

How to Keep the Hair In Curl.

Take the root of althaea boiled in water, one-eighth pound to a gallon, and thin to suit, and apply to the hair to keep it in curl, at the seaside or anywhere else. After applying put the hair in the desired position and allow it to dry. If too much shows on the hair, brush it out or off. The curl will remain.

How to Iron Linen.

Wash the linen carefully and thoroughly; then let it hang in the sun just long enough to iron nicely without being forced to sprinkle it. When the wrinkles have once dried in the linen, it is very difficult to remove all of them with the iron. Next have a very hot iron, not hot enough to scorch, but sufficient to dry the linen rapidly when passed over it. It must be ironed until perfectly dry; otherwise the luster and brilliancy that are so attractive will not be obtained. Upon good linen starch should be avoided just as much as upon silk fabrics. Starch may give "body" to some cheap thin grades of linen, but it is entirely out of place on good linen.

How to Fry Whitebait.

Put the tiny fish in a cloth with a handful of flour, fold up loosely and with the assistance of somebody shake them about until quite dry. Have ready some boiling lard, drop them into it and fry for about two minutes. Drain in a sieve, and serve with brown bread and butter and sliced lemon.

How to Make Bread Sauce.

Half a cupful of fine, dry, white bread crumbs must be stirred lightly into a cupful of scalding milk, with the invariable bit of soda added in boiling. Add half a teaspoonful of onion juice, paprika and a little salt; set over the fire in a double boiler and simmer five minutes to cook the bread; add a tablespoonful of butter and, if you like, a "scrape" of nutmeg. Serve in a gravy boat with boiled or roast chicken. Do not cook into paste. It should be just thin enough to be easily ladled out. Don't stir while it is cooking.

How to Perfume Linen.

Boil either a piece of orrisroot or a small bag of pulverized orrisroot with the lingerie. Either of these will give the articles a faint fragrance as mysterious as it is delightful.

How to Cook Spinach and Sardines.

Cook your spinach, boiling a small onion with the leaves. Strain when done and chop it fine. Skin and bone a dozen sardines, mince them fine and stir into the spinach. Mix a dessertspoon of butter and the same of flour to a paste and dilute it with a cup of broth. Stir it to a thick sauce, then mix in the spinach and sardines. Garnish with white of egg chopped fine and a mass of fine crumbled egg in the center.

How to Remove Ink From Wood.

A drop or two of pure spirits of niter rubbed with a wet cloth will remove ink stains from a mahogany or other kind of table or writing desk.

A Still More Terrible Prospect.

"It is awful not to know where your next dinner is coming from."

"I don't know. At the place where I board it seems worse to know where your next dinner is coming from."—

TRAINS COLLIDE.

A DOUBLE-HEADER SMASH-UP ON EEL RIVER.

FIREMAN REPLOGLE KILLED

AND AN ENGINEER INJURED BY JUMPING.

FOUR ENGINES MASS OF RUINS

AND EIGHT CARS AND THEIR CONTENTS DESTROYED.

A collision of double-header freight trains occurred on the Eel River division of the Wabash, two miles east of La Otto, at 9:30 o'clock last night.

As a result of the accident, E. I. Replogle, a student fireman who was "learning the road," is dead, four engines are a mass of scrap iron and eight cars are more of less damaged.

The scene of the accident being on the Detroit branch, no report of it was made to the officials here, and The Sentinel is indebted to Ira E. Young, a merchant at La Otto, for the particulars, which were received by telephone and which are as follows:

The unfortunate trains were Nos. 98 and 99, through fast freights, both being hauled by engines coupled and run as "double headers." Conductor Ray, of the eastbound train, No. 98, received orders at La Otto to side track and allow the westbound train to pass, but he did not read them correctly, or did not read them at all, and signaled the engineer to "go ahead." At the place where the wreck occurred the view is obstructed by curves and grades and when the engineers discovered the situation, their trains were running at a high rate of speed, possibly twenty or thirty miles an hour, and it was impossible to even check the velocity a little, though levers were reversed and brakes applied.

In the crash the two head engines were driven together, their parts being jammed one into the other so deeply and closely that the line of demarkation was invisible and they had the appearance of one machine.

One of the rear engines, in train 98, was jammed half way through a stock car loaded with hogs, killing nearly every animal, while the rear engine of train 99 was thrown in the ditch, where it laid upon its side, a mass of ruins half buried in the earth.

Eight cars were derailed and some of them were totally demolished. All were loaded with live stock, grain or merchandise and their cargos are nearly a total loss.

When it was evident that a collision was inevitable, all the men on the engines sprang for their lives but Mr. Replogle, who was so badly frightened that he did not know what to do and, hence, remained in the cab and rode to his death. His lifeless body was removed from the wreck and taken to La Otto this morning. Later it was sent to Deedsville, Ind., the home of the young man's parents.

The engineer of engine 76 was painfully hurt, having an ankle sprained and his hips and back badly bruised. He resides in Peru and was taken there this morning. His name could not be learned by The Sentinel's informant, owing to the reticence of the train crews, who refused to talk concerning the wreck.

Conductor Ray, in talking with the members of the crews after the wreck, took upon himself all the responsibility of the accident. He did not expect orders to meet a train at La Otto, and when the paper was handed him by the operator, he did not stop to read it, but gave the signal to "go ahead."

The accident occurred in DeKalb county, and will be investigated by the coroner of that county, who viewed the remains of the unfortunate fireman before permitting them to be removed to his late home.

The engines in the wreck were Nos. 413 and 578 and Nos. 76 and 369, coupled in the order named. They will be brought here for repairs as soon as they can be placed upon wheels and prepared for the journey.

The wreck crews were summoned from Peru and Montpelier and a track was soon built around the pile of locomotives and cars and traffic was delayed only for two or three hours.

TEMPORARILY SETTLED.

No item of news has attracted more attention from the Wabash shopmen in this city than the telegram that appeared in The Sentinel yesterday concerning the trouble between the shop officials and the machinists of the Grand Trunk at Port Huron, Mich. Master Mechanic Muhlfield and General Foreman J. C. Gehring, of the Grand Trunk, are former citizens of Fort Wayne and they have with them eight or ten machinists who were at one time employed in the Wabash shops in this city. The Fort Wayne friends of the Port Huron men will be pleased to learn that there is prospect of an amicable settlement of the troubles, as indicated by an Associated Press dispatch to The Sentinel, received this morning. It reads as follows:

"Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 3.—The striking machinists at the Grand Trunk locomotive works returned to work today. The men took Mechanical Superintendent Mulhfield's statement that he will investigate, as an indication that he will accede to their demands. If he decides that the company has the sole right to employ whosoever it sees fit, and that the union is permitted to have no voice in the matter, the men will go out again. The chances appear good, however, for an amicable settlement, as neither the men nor the officers of the company are looking for any trouble that can be avoided."

PUTTING IN A NEW WIRE.

N. C. McKinley and a gang of linemen are engaged in extending the Pennsylvania west end train wire to the east yard offices. At present they only go to the dispatcher's office and the new arrangement is made necessary by the changes brought about by the establishment of a terminal division at Chicago.

WILL ARRIVE NEXT WEEK.

The immense engines ordered by the Wabash from the Baldwin works several months ago are expected to commence arriving next week. They will be placed in service on the Toledo and Detroit branches as soon as tested. The company is short of power and the new engines will be welcomed. There are many freight engines in service at present that are only awaiting a lull in traffic which will allow them an opportunity to go to the shops for a general overhauling.

WILL BUILD A HOSPITAL.

The Mexican Central company has adopted the Wabash's hospital system and will build one of the finest railway hospitals in the country. It will be located at Aguas Colienles, the new mechanical headquarters of the railway company. The hospital proper, with the various smaller buildings in which its auxiliary establishments will be located, will form an independent community. The main and all the lesser buildings will be modern in style and very handsome. They will be built of stone with brick trimmings. The main building will be two stories high, with a length of 209 feet, and a depth of 89 feet. It will be entirely surrounded by a spacious veranda. There will be two large systems of wards, one for American and one for Mexican patients. There will be well equipped operating and drug rooms, bath rooms and other quarters. The hospital will have its own laundry, bakery, dairy and several cisterns, and large stables for horses and cows. The entire hospital establishment will cover some two acres of ground.

PENNOCK'S SUCCESSOR.

Thomas W Demarest has been appointed master mechanic of the Logansport division of the Panhandle lines, succeeding Mr. Pennock, whose death occurred by drowning in Hudson lake a few weeks ago. Mr. Demarest was formerly general foreman of the locomotive department of the Panhandle shops at Indianapolis.

WILLIAMS RESIGNS.

Lewis S. Williams, for eleven years lumber inspector and buyer for the Fort Wayne Organ company, has tendered his resignation to the company. He has accepted a position with the Mason & Hamlin company, of Cambridgeport, Mass. Mr. Williams will probably operate in this section of the country, and in case he does he will retain his residence in this city.

Arthur Henstock, who recently returned from England, this morning assumed charge of the fixture department of the electric works, which position was vacated by William Brizzolari a few weeks ago.

The improvements to be made by the Big Four at Anderson, and which are now under way, will include switching yards to cost half a million and a round house with full equipment for all business of a leading divisional point.

The Panhandle has begun work at Anderson on a double main track system to extend through the gas belt and ultimately will extend from Richmond to Logansport It is believed the line will at no distant day be double tracked the entire distance between Cincinnati and Chicago.

Thomas Emerson, of Wapokoneta, Ohio, in the employ of the Cincinnati Hamilton and Dayton road, has handed in his resignation. He began work on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton in 1858, and has been with it ever since, and in all his forty-one years of service has missed but five trains. He was eighty-four years old Wednesday.

VOLUNTEERS ARE WEDDED.

MARRIAGE OF CAPT. W. D OTT AND MRS. C. L. MILLER.

Pretty Ceremony at St. Paul's M. E. Church Last Evening - Couple Were Anointed.

The marriage of Mrs. Caroline L. Miller and Capt. William D. Ott, of the Volunteers of America, was solemnized Wednesday evening in the presence of an immense crowd that completely filled St. Paul's M. E. church, at Walton avenue and Selden street. Rev. M. C. Cooper was the officiating clergyman, and the church had been beautified by flowers and potted plants. Mrs. D. F. Bower presided at the organ, and shortly after 8 o'clock the contracting couple advanced up the aisle to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin. Misses Ida Payne and Georgia Colvin were flower girls. The bride was attired in a neat costume of the regulation colors of the volunteers, and carried a boquet of sweet peas, while Captain Ott wore the uniform of his station.

At the chancel the contracting couple were met by Rev. Cooper, who performed the ceremony which joined them as husband and wife. The ordinary marriage service of the church was used. Then followed the anointing with pure olive oil, a solemn service brought down from ancient times, and one seldom used. Captain Ott and his bride, kneeling at the altar, were anointed by Pastor Cooper. The act symbolizing their consecration to the service of God. At the conclusion of this ceremony Louis Bechtold sang a solo, and the bridal couple passed out of the church, took seats in their carriage and were driven away.

Captain Ott has been for some time in charge of the local station of the Volunteers of America, an evangelistic organization under the leadership of Ballington Booth. At present services are being held nightly in a tent at Wells and Cass streets. His bride came from Kalamazoo some months ago, and has been engaged in lecturing and evangelistic work. By her marriage to Captain Ott she at once too rank with him as a captain in the Volunteers of America. Rev. Cooper announced that the newly wedded couple would be at home after August 6th at 63 West Superior street.

A ROLAND FOR HER OLIVER.

The Lady Got Just About What She Deserved.

"The manufacture of celebrities used to be a great industry in the north," continued the old reporter, "and that accounts for the surprising fact that long accepted geniuses turn out occasionally to be plain, everyday chumps. The phenomenon has never before been explained, and apropos of the subject I recall an interesting case somewhat on the line of the lawyer's which I have just narrated. About ten years ago a weekly paper was being launched in a large inland city, and the proprietors, in hustling around for clever contributors, happened to think of a woman writer who had done one or two promising things, but attracted no special attention. 'Let's make a contract with Miss So-and-so,' they said, 'and then bull her stock.' Their first step was to commission an engraver to make the handsomest portrait he could possibly turn out. It bore a very faint resemblance to the original, but it was good to look at, and they sent electrotypes, with their compliments, to all the big papers of the country. Most of them were used, and as everybody is interested in a beautiful woman the scheme worked like a charm, and the authoress at once acquired a vogue. But, like Narcissus, she became enamored of her own reflection, and a metamorphosis immediately ensued. She gazed upon her counterfeit presentment and turned into a flower—the haughtiest rose in all the garden of letters. Some years later the man who thought up the picture scheme met the lady at a social function in New York. She did not seem to recall his name, and he ventured to remind her that he was formerly connected with the there he mentioned the title of the publications. 'You were one of our most valued contributors,' he added. 'Ah, yes,' she answered graciously. 'I do remember something about it now. I have always liked to help young journals along. What became of the expaper?' Then he took a horrible revenge. 'It expired after your second contribution,' he said."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

ROUGH RIDERS, JUNIOR.

Governor Roosevelt Wants His Boys to Fight Aguinaldo.

Governor Roosevelt recently directed Captain Wells Murphy, who served under him at San Juan, to proceed to the Indian Territory, New Mexico and Arizona and rally in his name a rough rider junior regiment, including as many as possible of the original rough riders, for service in crushing Aguinaldo.

Captain Murphy visited the governor by appointment at Oyster Bay. He met Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt out driving. Roosevelt caught sight of the captain and shouted, "Hello, old man! You will find your horse in my stable. Saddle him and catch us!" Then, while driving and riding and later at the Roosevelt country home, the two fixed up the plan for the resurrection of the rough riders, says the Washington Star.

Captain Murphy reached the Hoffman House, New York, from Oyster Bay the other evening. "Yes," said he, "I had a talk with the governor about getting as many of the boys together as I can for a cavalry regiment. I assume we shall be as unfortunate as we were at Santiago in regard to horses, but the boys can fight on foot in the Philippines, I guess. I shall proceed very soon to the Indian Territory and raise a troop. Our regiment will ultimately, I presume, number over 1,200. Just how many of the original rough riders will re-enlist I cannot estimate, but the governor is so popular among the boys that a word from him will send them anywhere. I cannot tell you who is to command the new regiment. How I wish 'our Teddy' could go with us! I am a southern Democrat, but, like the rest of the boys, think far more of him than we do of ourselves."

"Then Colonel Roosevelt will not command you?" "Much to my regret, he will not." A large number of Terry's rough riders who started for the front in the war with Spain, but failed to see active service, are said to have volunteered to fill the ranks of Roosevelt's rough riders. Captain Murphy and other officers will probably enlist them in the far west. Besides this regiment, it is understood that two other regiments of rough riders will be organized for Philippine service.

PENNSYLVANIA BOYS GIVEN A RECEPTION.

CHEERED IN SAN FRANCISCO

A TRIUMPHAL MARCH TO THE PRESIDIO.

HAD BEARING OF VETERANS

WILL BE MUSTERED OUT AND SENT HOME.

San Francisco, Aug. 3—At 9 o'clock this morning the Pennsylvania troops disembarked from the transport Senator and commenced the march to the Presidio reservation, where the soldiers will go into camp preparatory to mustering out.

The reception accorded the soldiers from the Keystone state was similar to that given the Oregon, Nebraska and Utah boys who had preceded them home. Thousands upon thousands of people lined the streets through which the boys were to pass. The usual medley of steam whistles, cannons and fireworks accompanied them all through the business section of the city. Lower Market street was packed with people as the parade swung into that thoroughfare and a mighty cheer went up and was carried all the way up the street and repeated. Flags waved constantly as the soldiers marched between the lines of spectators and it seemed as if every piece of bunting and every flag in the city had been brought into service. From hotel windows and business houses streamers of bunting were thrown to the breeze and in some places strings of cow bells had been suspended from windows to add to the din.

Three heavy batteries, one light battery and the regimental band of the Third artillery came first in the parade, followed by the Nebraska regiment, and then came the Pennsylvanians led by Lieutenant Colonel Barrett.

Colonel Barrett's sword, draped in crape out of respect to the memory of Colonel Hawkins, commander of the regiment, who died at sea en route home, caused a hush to fall on the multitudes.

The Pennsylvanians were a sturdy lot and presented even a better appearance, from a health standpoint, than did the Nebraska boys and those from Utah, but they ascribe this to the tonic effects of the sea air and to the fact that they were off the fighting line for some time before departing from the Islands.

Today they were attired in blue uniforms and carried their blankets and rifles, and their spick and span appearance commanded great attention.

The soldiers accepted the attention showered upon them modestly, plodding along with even step and only occasionly looking to the right or left. The expressions of gratification which the sun-burned faces bore and an occasional cheer were the only signs they permitted themselves to show that they appreciated the demonstrations of a grateful people.

The plaudits of an admiring people could not dissipate the discipline of a year's service in Uncle Sam's army, and the loss of their commander hung heavily upon them.

The battle flag of the Pennsylvanians, torn, shot-riddled and almost a wreck of its former beauty, excited more admiration than did anything else. As soon as the color bearer came in sight carrying the dingy and frayed piece of silk, a cheer, mightier if possible than any which had been given the boys, rang out and reverberated along the throngs who had gathered to welcome the soldiers.

The ambulances of the Pennsylvanians brought up the rear of the regiment, bearing the sick and wounded. Following the Pennsylvanians came battery C, of the Third artillery, from the Presidio.

The parade was reviewed in Van Ness avenue by General Shafter and in the reviewing stand with him was the committee of Pennsylvanians who had come from the Keystone state to extend a welcome to their returned heroes. As the troops passed the reviewing stand they could not suppress a cheer and it was returned by those in the stand howling, waving handkerchiefs and flags.

On their arrival at the Presidio the work of going into camp was taken up with a vim and early in the afternoon the boys were comfortably quartered.

Here they will remain for several weeks until they are mustered out, when they will be taken to their homes in a body.

Arrangements for their transportation east are nearing completion and by the time the soldiers are mustered out everything will be in readiness to have them rushed home.

BOYS RANSACK "WILDWOOD."

DETECTIVE COLING MAKES AN INVESTIGATION

And Finds That Everything is Upside Down and Property Has Been Stolen.

Detective Coling arrested a number of lads today who are charged with burglarizing "Wildwood," Judge L. M. Ninde's suburban home in South Wayne. Judge Ninde and his family are away from home enjoying a vacation and a number of boys ranging in years from fourteen to sixteen knew this. Neighbors saw them in the premises and suspected that they had been in the house. The police were notified and this morning Detective Coling made an investigation. He gained an entrance to the mansion and found that the bureaus had been searched, clothing was scattered about the house with the pockets turned inside out, and several pocket books were lying about the premises with nothing in them but papers. Every gas jet in the place was turned on full blast.

The detective suspected certain boys and arrested Emmett Evens, who lives on Home avenue. He implicated seven other boys and before noon Michael Sullivan, another Home avenue lad, and Charles and Michael Ehrman, who live near the corner of Broadway and Taylor street, were arrested. The lads admitted having entered the premises. One of them had a key which unlocked the back door and this was used to obtain an entrance. The boys admitted having taken some old iron and rubber goods that were scattered about and these they had sold. It is impossible for the officers to tell whether any valuables are missing until the Ninde family returns.

Detective Coling is this afternoon hunting for the three boys of the seven implicated who have not been arrested. They all reside on the south side and are members of respectable families.

BOYCOTT WEARING OUT.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 3.—Absolute quiet reigned throughout the city last night and today. Street car service was maintained last night on the Union street line, which passes through the most turbulent sections of the city, without trouble. The military force is being rapidly withdrawn and by the close of the present week the last company of soldiers will probably be ordered home. There was a decided increase in the number of passengers carried on some of the Big Consolidated cars this morning. Many well informed persons who have been watching the progress of the boycott closely, think that the movement has reached its limit and is now on the wane.

A NEW FEUD REPORTED.

London, Ky., Aug. 3.—A new feud is reported to have broken out on Barnes Fork, in Letcher county, Kentucky, between the Wrights and Holbrooks on one side and the Reynolds and Bentleys on the other. Each faction is heavily armed and occupying adjacent hills. An outbreak is expected at any time.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

FEARS CONQUEST.

DOMINICAN PAPER APPEALS TO THE POWERS.

THINKS UNCLE SAM WANTS THE ISLAND.

AMBITIONS MUST BE CURBED

THE NEWS FROM THE LITTLE REPUBLIC.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 3.—Owing to the efforts of the government of Santo Domingo to suppress news and information about the recent assassination of President Heureaux and the reported revolution in Santo Domingo, the facts in the case are difficult to obtain.

But a dispatch received by a messenger who had passed through Hayti indicates that the assassination of President Heureaux was not on the program, the purpose of the revolutionists being to capture Moca, with the president, thus decapitating the Dominican government at the first blow, the insurgents not possessing the means of prosecuting a protracted conflict. The premature departure of President Heureaux threatened to frustrate this scheme, whereupon an enthusiast, who was watching the president's movements, committed the act.

A subsequent attack on Moca being repulsed, the insurgents withdrew into the fastnesses between Moca and Porto Plata, hoping to secure sufficient accessions of men and arms to attack Porto Plata and prosecute the movement in spite of the initial failure.

Commenting on a London cablegram relative to possible American intervention in San Domingo, the Gleanor today says it anticipates the "finding of an excuse to add the island of Hayti to the string of Antillian gems on the new colonial diadem," and invokes the powers to "curb America's ambition."

OUTRAGES IN HAYTI.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Acting Secretary of State Adee has received a cablegram from Minister Powell, at Fort Au Prince, Hayti, confirming the newspaper reports of the violation of his legation by police officers who were making an arrest. The minister added that the person who was arrested (De Vivilier) is a citizen of Hayti and he seeks to know what disposition shall be made of him upon his return to the legation.

The department is now giving this query consideration and it will probably direct the minister to surrender the man to the authorities if it shall appear that the proceedings are regular and that he will be given a fair trial.

If the Haytien government expresses regret at the invasion of the legation the state department will be satisfied.

THE GAS COMMITTEE.

Chairman Hench has called a meeting of the committee of the whole to consider the natural gas question tomorrow evening. The special committee of five, composed of Councilmen Hosey, Scheid, Schuhler, Bauer and Clark, which was appointed to submit a number of questions to President Henry C. Paul, will meet this evening and prepare a report to be submitted to the committee of the whole. An ordinance fixing the gas rates at 25 or 30 per cent. lower than at present has been prepared and will be discussed by the committee of the whole tomorrow evening. The new ordinance will provide that new rates go into effect on January 1st next.

WILL SEE THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Secretary Root will leave this evening for New York to be absent until Monday. It is quite likely that he will see the president before he returns to Washington.

NEW BOARD OF CHARITIES.

In accordance with the law passed by the last general assembly Judge O'Rourke has appointed a county board of charities and corrections. The following persons were chosen: A. B. White and Miss Eliza C. Rudisill for three years; George Gale and Mrs. Ellen Cooper for two years, and Col. R. S. Robertson and Dr. C. B. Stemen for one year. All have not signified their acceptance. The new board will have general supervision of the institutions for charities and corrections which are under the control of the county authorities. They will visit the county infirmary, jail, prisons, hospitals, and other institutions, making suggestions as to the betterment of conditions, and keep a general lookout for the welfare of the public charges.

SWAIM QUIT THE CLUB.

"Cy" Swaim did not return with the Fort Wayne team at noon today. He has gone back to his home in Cadwallader, Ohio, and says he will play no more base ball this season. He did not notify Manager Glasscock of his intentions, but did tell some of the members of the team that he had been examined by a physician, who said he had heart trouble and therefore he did not care to pitch any more this season. Some of the team believe he quit because he did not win every game in which he pitched.

JONES WANTS TO COME HOME.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER WOULD LIKE TO RETIRE.

Not Anxious to Retain Chairmanship, but Will Hold Until Next Convention.

New York, Aug. 3.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says:

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, wished to return home from Europe as early as September 10, but his physicians laid upon him the injunction not to leave before October 1.

The senator writes to a friend in this city that he feels as well as at any time in twenty years and has not the slightest premonition of another attack of the heart disease from which he suffered. It is learned from a friend of the senator that he is not ambitious to hold the chairmanship of the executive committee of his party, but that it was not deemed wise to resign at this time and invite a scramble for the place. Hence, without quoting Senator Jones himself, he says that the senator will resign the leadership of the democratic party by the time of the national convention so as to give an opportunity for the choice of another man.

SUICIDE OF JAMES TURPIE.

LEAPED FROM A THIRD STORY WINDOW IN LAFAYETTE.

He Was a Prominent Citizen of That City, and the Cause of His Act is Unknown.

Lafayette, Aug. 3.—J. H. Turpie, one of the best known residents of this city, committed suicide early today. He plunged headforemost from a third story window of the Hotel Lahr and struck the paving on Fifth street. An ambulance took the body to a hospital, but life was found extinct.

There is no known reason for the act.

Mr. Turpie lived with his family in the aristocratic part of the city, near the hotel. He was assigned to a room at midnight and two hours later his body was found in the street.

WON NEW LAURELS.

The attraction at Island Park Assembly yesterday was the three concerts given by Fort Wayne entertainers—Miss A. Lillian Schrader, soprano and violin soloist; Mrs. Carrie Schrader-Gosaman, reader; W. R. Gerberding, baritone soloist, and Miss Hedwig Schrey, piano soloist and accompanist. Their work was highly appreciated, and each of the artists was compelled to respond to the heartiest of encores. Their duets and trios were fully up to the high standard of the solo numbers, and the company is in all respects a strong and capable one.

DID NOT FILE BONDS.

The bids for the addition to the Allen County Orphans' Home had not been opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The contractors were on hand on time, but most of them failed to file bonds as required by the new law and others had not made the necessary affidavit that there was no collusion with other bidders.

HOME FROM SEATTLE.

Dr. H. C. Sites returned last evening from Seattle, Wash., where he went two weeks ago on business for the Buckler River Mining company. The company has disposed of its copper holdings in Washington.

FOR LARGE ARMY.

SECRETARY ROOT APPLYING HIS ENERGIES.

DEVELOPMENTS OBSERVED

WANTS 40,000 MEN AVAILABLE FOR PHILIPPINES.

HE IS DILIGENT IN INQUIRY

WILL INCREASE THE FORCE IN THE ARCHIPELAGO.

Washington, Aug. 3.—It appears probable from developments during the past two days in the war department that Secretary Root has in contemplation an army of 40,000 available men for the Philippines.

While Mr. Root has been at the head of the department only a brief time, he has been making diligent inquiries among the bureau chiefs regarding supplies and equipments and the trend of his questioning has been in the direction of an increase in the military force in the eastern archipelago.

HIS LIGHT WAS OUT.

Philadelphia, Aug. 3.—The captain of the British steamer Glooscap, which arrived today from Iloilo with a cargo of sugar, reports that on April 2d, when passing Cape Macleville, Balabac Islands, one of the Philippines, he found the lighthouse keeper without provisions and unable to light his lamps because he had no oil. The Glooscap furnished supplies and reported the fact to the British consul at Batavia. The natives of the island, the captain says, had all been killed by Spaniards.

SHAMROCK HAS A MISHAP.

CUP CHALLENGER FORCED TO PUT BACK.

Had Sailed From Fairlie on Her Voyage Across the Atlantic—Damage Was Slight.

Glasgow, Aug. 3.—The cup challenger Shamrock sailed from Fairlie this morning en route to America. She had proceeded but a short distance when she had a slight mishap to her bowsprit, and had to return to Fairlie, thus delaying her departure for a short time.

The Shamrock was accompanied by Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin gaily decorated with flags.

As the two yachts proceeded down the river, whose banks were thronged with spectators, they were greeted with enthusiastic cheers intermingled with singing "Rule Britannia."

The craft in the vicinity of Fairlie displayed flags in honor of the departing challenger.

The sounds of the whistles and sirens blowing in honor of the Shamrock was deafening. As already cabled, the Shamrock will take a southerly course.

Captain Hogarth expects to reach New York within twenty-eight days as he does not intend to push the yacht to any extent. She is insured at Lloyds' for $200,000, at 5 per cent.

It was noted as a good omen that the last racing yacht which sailed for America from Fairlie was the unbeaten Minerva, skippered by "Charlie" Barr, now skipper of the Columbia.

The Shamrock's racing spars will be taken to New York by the Anchor line steamer City of Rome.

Captain Hogarth just before he started, said he considered the Shamrock to be a perfect racing machine.

WARRANTS SERVED.

Constable Bagby at noon today served the warrants on the Fort Wayne ball players, in which they are ordered to appear before Justice Bullerman Friday morning and answer to a charge of having played a game of base ball on Sunday for a fee. These affidavits were issued on affidavit of one James Kleichner, of Logansport.

STORM REPORTS MEAGRE.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 3.—Reports from Carabelle, indicate that Tuesday's storm was more disastrous than at first supposed. It is known, however, that the magnificent docks of the Gulf Naval Stores company have been destroyed. A large warehouse of that company containing $100,000 worth of rosin was swept away. The steamer Capitola, also the property of the Naval Stores company, was blown ashore. About two-thirds of the town proper was destroyed. A steamer will leave here this evening to ascertain the true statement of things.

VOLUNTEERS STILL COMING.

Volunteers at the Fort Wayne recruiting office today were nine in number, as follows: George Jones, Fort Wayne; William L. Bodiac, Wallen; Jesse E. Ruby, Otis E. Waltman, William J. Brown and William F. Goodrich, of Cromwell; Charles E. Brady, Jesse F. Cory and Samuel E. Gibson, of Syracuse. They have not yet made choice of regiments.

MRS. PEROT AGAIN REMANDED.

THE BALTIMORE WOMAN IN A LONDON COURT.

The Daughter for Whose Abduction She Was Arrested, Repulsed Her Father's Father.

London, Aug. 3.—Mrs. William Y. Perot, of Baltimore, Md., who was arrested at Liverpool on an extradition warrant July 27 after reaching that port from Canada, charged with the abduction of her daughter Gladys, and who was brought here and remanded the same day on £100 bail, with two sureties, appeared for examination this morning in the Bow street police court. She was again remanded on the same bail and with the same sureties, Sir G. Ewen-Smith and N. Blood.

Mrs. Perot looked remarkably well and entered the court holding her daughter by the hand, and escorted by her brother, T. Pierce, and Lady Collin Campbell.

N. Blood, a brother of Lady Colin Campbell, who accompanied Mrs. Perot to this country, entered the court a few minutes later.

There was some excitement in the court room when W. H. Perot, the father-in-law of Mrs. Perot, entered, accompanied by Mr. Hodsell, of the United States embassy. Mr. Perot advanced to greet the child, but she hid her face in her hands, muttering:

"I don't wish to speak to you."

"But, my dear," he replied, "I have a leter from your father and he sends his love."

The child wept but did not answer, and Mr. Perot seemed much hurt.

Mr. Crane, representing the United States embassy, said that extradition papers marked "Urgent" and "Pressing" were handed this morning to the officials of the British foreign office and were now on their way to the home office. Some days must necessarily elapse, he added, before copies of the documents could be placed in the magistrate's hands.

Therefore Mr. Crane asked that the prisoner be remanded.

Counsel for Mrs. Perot acquiesced.

CZAR IS PLEASED.

OFFICIAL REVIEW OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

FULLY UP TO EXPECTATIONS

CRUELTIES OF WAR WILL BE STOPPED.

MAINTENANCE OF PEACE EASY

TIME WILL POINT THE WAY TO DISARMAMENT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—The Official Messenger today publishes a government "communique" reviewing lengthily the result of The Hague peace conference. After referring to the sympathetic reception the powers accorded the czar's "magnanimous appeal for peace," it proceeds:

"The results of the conference have fully come up to the expectations of the government. It has been found necessary for the conference to postpone a definite settlement of the complicated question of the suspension of armament until fully elucidated by the different governments. Nevertheless the lightening of military burdens is already admitted by unanimos resolutio to be urgently desirable for all nations. On the other hand, the labors of the conference will doubtless exercise influence in regulating the customs of war and stopping cruelties. The various states have agreed to use all their resources in favor of the maintenance of peace and the abolition of war. It is now an established fact that mediation, which heretofore depended on the good will of the states interested, can henceforward be offered by a third power on its own initiative."

The "communique" concludes:

"Without impairing the sovereign rights of the individual states, the results afford a fresh basis for international peace. The necessity for a solution of the czar's proposals is admitted by all the powers and the march of events will indicate the means to be employed in securing the welfare of mankind and the full attainmentof the objects in view."

HAVE A GRIEVANCE.

Restaurant men of the city are getting together for the purpose of having an understanding regarding the coming street fair. The restaurant men say that heretofore they have donated liberally to these and other celebrations and when the event arrived churches and other societies which did not contribute to defray expenses of the celebration have stepped in and furnished meals, thereby cutting off the revenue of the restauranteurs very perceptibly. They have no objection to any society feeding the hungry after they have done their part in contributing toward defraying the expense of the fair, but they object to subscribing and then dividing profits with those who have done nothing toward the celebration. The restaurant men will hold a meeting next week to take action in the matter.

SITE IS NOT CHOSEN.

No selection has yet been made of grounds for the Buffalo Bill show on Saturday, and the matter will not be determined until tomorrow. James Barnett called at The Sentinel office this morning and authorized a denial of the report that his land on Spy Run avenue had been engaged for the event. It is regarded as almost certain that the show will be given in the eastern part of the city and a Lakeside location is regarded very favorably by the management.

WILL RACE LABOR DAY.

The Amateur Driving club held a meeting Tuesday evening and decided to hold a race meeting on Labor day at the mile track of the Fort Wayne Driving club. A program of events is to be arranged in which Fort Wayne horses will be the contenders. One of the events will be the second race between Wayne Chief, Herman Tapp's great trotter, and Rod Elgin, Frank Gruber's fast pacer. In the first race Wayne Chief won in consecutive heats.

The Stogies made it two out of three by winning the prettiest game played in Wheeling this season. Swaim and Wells were opposing twirlers and the Wheelings won because the Fort Wayne twirler could not field the little bunts the Wheeling batters hit in front of the plate. Wells was effective, it being impossible for the Fort Wayne batters to connect with his curves when men were on bases and a hit was needed. Belden made the only errors for the Fort Waynes and he was playing out of his position. Score:

STROBEL IS NO FOOL.

The Toledo Bee, in an article commenting on the transfer of Torreyson and his "misfits" from Grand Rapids to Columbus, registers a loud howl against trading a good city for a dead one and tells itself that Toledo is keeping the Inter-State and carries the "white man's burden." The writer knows Charley Strobel and believes he is no fool. He has a fine team of ball players, which has advertised the Lake City more than any team that ever played there. And this team doesn't cost Mr. Strobel more than $7,000 for the season. He has fine players, but no big salaries. It is admitted that the Toledo magnate clears from $3,000 to $4,000 a year, a nice profit. Were he to enter the Western league he would be compelled to pay salaries averaging $50 a month a player bigger than he now pays. For fourteen men, which he must carry in the bigger league, this means $3,500 a season. The receipts in Toledo will not exceed $10,000 a year and thus will all his profits be eaten up, even should he have a one-two-three club. Then, opposing he had a loser? Toledo wouldn't stand for it; the town would soon be as dead as Columbus and it couldn't break into the Maumee Valley league. The sporting editors should give Mr. Strobel credit for having at least horse sense. He knows a good thing when he has it and he'll keep it, too. Mark that. Admitted that Torreyson is a millstone to the Inter-State, it is easy enough to get rid of him at the next league meeting. And the Toledo writer knows as well as anybody else that there are no gamer base ball men in the business than the gentlemen behind the Inter-State, who have made it the king-pin little league of the country.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Where is big Ed Herr, anyhow? He hasn't been heard from for many moons.

Tomorrow is ladies' day and all the fair sex will be admitted to the game free. Fort Wayne ladies attend the ball games in greater numbers than in any other city in the Interstate circuit.

Billy Wayne has signed with Fred Cooke's Crawfordsville team and pitched his first game yesterday against Wabash, the Crawfordsvilles winning by a score of 1 to 0. Only one hit was made off Wayne's curves.

Boston's two victories and Brooklyn's defeat gave the champions quite a "hunch" toward the pennant. Young Bailey, the ex-South Bend twirler, who might have been with Fort Wayne, pitched one of the victories, allowing the Perfectos one hit. Bailey appears to be the find of the season.

The Shamrocks will leave for Richmond Sunday morning at 2:40, over the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, where in the afternoon the Fort Wayne boys will meet the Richmond team. This will be the Shamrocks' third visit to the Quaker city this season, the Shamrocks winning both games.

Danny Sheehan, the new shortstop signed by Fort Wayne, arrived in the city on the early morning Nickel Plate train and will probably play his first game this afternoon. He will have every "fan" in the grand stand pulling for him to make a success at short and on his former record there is no reason why he shouldn't succeed.

Brashear, the Louisville twirler, has accepted terms offered by the Fort Wayne management and will report here probably tomorrow. A ticket was telegraphed him yesterday. Al. Fisher and Sample assert that Brashear was far and away the best twirler in the Western association besides being a fine infielder and fair hitter. If he is one-half as fast as his friends assert he will add greatly to Fort Wayne's pitching strength.

The Blues defeated the New Haven Owls 20 to 6. The feature of the game was a home run hit by Harrod. Batteries—Blues, Smith and Longfield; Owls, Zeddis and Dowling.

A CHALLENGE.

The Bell Telephone company's ball team is now ready to play any team in the city and they would like to hear from the mail carriers for a game next Sunday. Address Otto Hild, captain Bell Telephone club.

TOO FAST FOR FRANK BOGASH.

COULD GET NO BETTER THAN THIRD MONEY.

Searchlight Lowers His Record Again—Protest Against the Official Time.

Columbus, O., Aug. 3.—The weather was ideal and the track was very fast. Searchlight paced the three fastest heats of the season, 2:03¾, 2:04¼ and 2:04, and clipped a half second off his record. The Maid created a sensation among the turfmen by winning the postponed 2:10 pace after failing to finish better than third in any one of the four heats paced Tuesday. The Maid also established a new world's record for 4-year-old mares when she paced the fifth heat of the race in 2:05¾. The best previous record was 2:06¼, made by The Maid at Cleveland last week.

The 2:04 pace, despite the fast time, was won by Searchlight apparently without an effort. The gelding is undoubtedly the fastest pacer out this season and he was almost a prohibitive favorite in the betting. His performance in the first heat was nothing short of sensational. There were six starters—Bessie Bonehill, Anaconda, Frank Bogash, Searchlight, Directly and Chehalis.

Anaconda took the lead at the start and it was evident that McHenry proposed to force McCarthy to drive Searchlight out, for Anaconda went the first quarter at almost a two-minute gait. Searchlight moved up slowly and it was a pretty race all the way to the three-quarters, with the two horses neck and neck after they passed the half and Directly close behind. As the horses came into the stretch Searchlight shot ahead and held the lead, passing under the wire two lengths ahead of Anaconda without being urged. The official time by quarters was 0:30¼, 1:01, 1:29¼, 2:03¾.

A protest was at once raised against the time, it being claimed that the heat was made in 2:02¼, the half being 0:59½ instead of 1:01. This was the time caught by a number of horsemen. The official time indicates that the third quarter was made in 0:28¼, considerably under a two-minute gait. The protest was not regarded, however, and the quarter of a second keeps Searchlight in the 2:04 class. The gelding won the two remaining heats with as much ease as the first. The pace was too hot for Chehalis and after staying one heat he was distanced. Summaries:

PIONEER'S JOURNEY IS ENDED.

DEATH CALLS MRS. ISABELLA RUGG TO REST.

Last of a Prominent Family Who Came to Allen County to Reside in 1824.

At 6 o'clock Wednesday evening Mrs. Isabella Rugg, another of the pioneers whose lives were closely associated with the early history and development of Fort Wayne, passed away at the home of her niece, Miss Frances Sinclair, 45 College street. Mrs. Rugg had reached the age of 77 years, and death was due to diabetes, from which she has long been a sufferer. Though ill for several weeks, her condition was not regarded as alarming until Friday last.

Mrs. Rugg was born at Shane's Prairie, Ohio, in 1822, and when but two years of age came with her mother and brothers, the late William S., Samuel and Simon Edsall, to Allen county to reside. Mrs. Rugg was the youngest and last surviving member of the Edsall family, which for many years was one of the most prominent in this section. She resided in Fort Wayne until 1854, when she was united in marriage with Samuel L. Rugg, who was elected state superintendent of public instruction, and with him removed to Indianapolis, where they resided until the expiration of his term of office. They then took up their residence in Tennessee, remaining there until Mr. Rugg's death in 1871. Mrs. Rugg then returned to Fort Wayne and made her home with her brothers, William S. and Simon Edsall, until their death, and since that time has lived with her niece, Miss Sinclair.

Mrs. Rugg's nearest surviving relatives are neices, Miss Sinclair, Mrs. Henry Colerick, Mrs. Helen Nelson and Mrs. George Crane, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Willis Maier, of Chicago; Miss Alice Coombs, of Cincinnati, and her nephews, Peter and Joseph Edsall and Thomas and Joseph Coombs. Mrs. Rugg possessed self-reliance and energy to a remarkable degree, and throughout her long and exemplary life was held in the highest esteem by an exceedingly large circle of acquaintances. A woman of sterling worth and integrity, her life was a help and an encouragement to those around her, and her loyalty to her friendships was unfaltering.

The funeral services will occur Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of Miss Sinclair.

SMITH.

Roy Smith, who for some time has been a sufferer from consumption, died Wednesday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Smith, 344 Washington boulevard, at the age of twenty-two. Funeral services will be held from the residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and both the funeral and interment will be private.

RUSSELL.

Helen M. Russell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell, died at 4 o'clock this morning from kidney trouble, at 50 Oliver street. His age was 14 months. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon. The father is a machinist at the Bowser Oil Tank works.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

House.—Funeral services of Vivion Knox House will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence, 417 Broadway.

Rondot.—Funeral services of Frank Rondot, 13 Randolph street, will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at Academie.

Kierspe.—Funeral services of Willard Henry Kierspe will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 37 Michigan avenue. Rev. Danneker will officiate.

Coombes.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Eliza Coombes will occur at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon from the residence, 164 Broadway. The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers: William Carter, James Gavin, N. C. Miller, Gwinn Anderson, William Madison and Charles Philley. Interment at Lindenwood.

WHERE EVES MAY EAT THEIR APPLES ALONE

Chicago to Have a Hotel Run by Women For Women.

BY FLORENCE JEFFORDS.

Chicago will soon have a magnificent hotel run by women for women. The famous Richelieu, on the lake front, is to be made new, and certainly nothing finer could be desired. The management will be under the supervision of four of Chicago's best known club and society women, Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. R. Kennedy Seobell, Mrs. Emma Parsons and Mrs. Byford Leonard.

The new hotel is to be a home for business women and women who are traveling through Chicago alone. The hotel is to be christened "The Laurel Club Hotel," after a club of that name, of which these four ladies are also the chief promoters. In connection with this hotel similar places are also to be established in New York and San Francisco.

The present Paris hotel for American women is located at Rue Chassee Dantin, 43, under the management of Mrs. Byford Leonard, who prepared the way there for this new enterprise some months ago.

The undertaking, through and through, if carried out as the projectors have planned it, will be one of the most gigantic ever attempted by women, but the ladies have reserve funds and are confident of their success.

In this Chicago woman's hotel women clerks, cooks, stewards and even women bootblacks and belgirls will be employed. The only men about the place will be the porters, who will do the heavy work. The management will be careful and discriminating and the atmosphere refined and cultured.

Since the announcement of their purpose the projectors have had more applications for accommodations from business and professional women right in Chicago than could be taken care of.

Many applicants have stated that they wish to furnish their own rooms with possessions they already have. The management are not prepared just at present to decide as to how they will consider the above plan, for it was their original intention to furnish the building complete and launch it as a fully equipped hotel, but, the managers being women, of course they reserve the right to change their mind on this point.

CHICAGO'S NEW HOTEL FOR WOMEN.

A feature of the hotel will be the library, which will be fitted up with all the current literature.

Another benefit to be derived and one indispensable to ladies traveling alone through a large city will be the chaperon furnished for theater parties and observation tours, while for those fortunate enough to make the hotel their home social entertainments, such as high class concerts and musicales, literary programmes, etc., will be provided twice a month.

The same benefits are expected to be offered in the proposed New York and San Francisco hotels after the managers once have the Chicago enterprise under headway.

Each hotel is expected to pay its own running expenses, for everything is to be carried out on a thorough business basis. All the houses are to be known as "Laurel club" hotels, after the Chicago and Paris houses, and all are to be under one management.

In connection with the hotel these capable women have already started the Laurel club lunchroom in a delightful suit at the corner of State and Quincy streets, where a substantial meal can be had for 16 cents and less, and where, should a young woman fall ill during the heat of the day, she may be taken to the resting rooms and cared for and medical aid furnished her.

The membership fee of the Laurel club is 25 cents a year. The club is exclusively for working women, whose only requisites shall be that they are engaged in honorable employment and bear such personal qualifications as to satisfy the management of their gentility.

The new hotel will simply carry out the benevolent objects of the Laurel club on a larger scale. With such purposes, under such management and with such novel features as are contemplated Chicago's new hotel will doubtless attract widespread attention.

Not Forgiven.

The boats that pass up and down the Clyde pick up and deposit numbers of passengers at the various riverside piers, and Govan and Partick are both well frequented stopping places. A zealous Salvationist captain was on the boat one day, and, anxious to improve the occasion, he accosted a stout, weather beaten rustic with the well intentioned question, "Man, are ye forgiven?"

"Nae, nae!" cried the rustic. "I'm for Partick!"—Household Words.

Green Pea Salad.

Green pea salad may be prepared from peas left over or from freshly cooked, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine. In the latter case cook a pint of young, tender peas with one tablespoonful of butter and as little salted water as possible, stirring constantly until the peas are tender and the water has evaporated. Set aside until cold. Thoroughly wash and drain a head of lettuce and arrange the leaves on a serving dish. Chop or cut a cup and a half of roast lamb or boiled chicken very fine and spread over the lettuce. Pour the peas over the meat. Mix together six tablespoonfuls of oil, half a teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste. Add gradually two or three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice or vinegar and pour over the salad. Sprinkle the whole with a few mint or tarragon leaves chopped very fine.

JEFF DAVIS IN GRANITE.

A Statue For the President of the Confederacy.

The first statue of Jefferson Davis has been modeled by George Julian Zolnay of New York. It is of heroic size, the figure being 7½ feet, and it will rest on a pedestal of suitable dimensions. This pedestal will be cut from a block of southern granite, and on its face will be engraved the name and age of Mr. Davis and probably also some suitable inscription. The entire expense of the statue has been borne by Mrs. Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Hayes of Colorado, the sole motive for its erection being the desire of the famous statesman's widow and daughter to pay respect to his memory in this enduring fashion.

The figure is represented as wearing the very clothes in which Mr. Davis was dressed when he was captured by a detachment of Michigan cavalry in the mountains of Alabama. Mrs. Davis has carefully preserved these interesting historical relics, and she placed them at Mr. Zolnay's disposal. Indeed, she furnished him with all the available material that could in any way aid him in his work, and the result is that the statue is a singularly true likeness of Mr. Davis.

STATUE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.

The statue of Mr. Davis will be erected in Hollywood cemetery, Richmond, Va., and the ceremony of unveiling will take place during the early autumn. The statue of Miss Winnie Davis, which is also the work of Mr. Zolnay, will be erected near it on the Davis family plot, and the ceremony of unveiling it will take place on the same day. As the south takes great interest in these statues, and as the latter is a gift of the Daughters of the Confederacy, it is probable that the ceremonies will be of a public or semipublic character.

THE BOY WHO DIDN'T.

And Now He Probably Regrets His Little Plan.

"Please, sir," said the office boy, "may I get away this afternoon?"

"What's wrong?" asked the great financier. "Is your grandmother dead?"

Little Willie had been taught that honesty was always the best policy. He was a good boy. He never sneaked stamps from his employer, and he never threw the pretty typewriter into fits by whispering to her that he had just seen a mouse scoot under her desk. Being a truthful boy, little Willie replied:

"No, sir, I ain't got no grandmother; but the club that's in first place is goin to play here today, and I'd like to see the game."

The old gentleman stared at him helplessly for a moment and then drew from his pocket $2, which he handed to the boy.

Ah, reader, you have already guessed that the great man felt in duty bound to encourage such frankness—but wait.

"Here," said Henry Hardrocks, "here's your week's wages. Don't come back any more. A boy that can't get up even a poor excuse on such an occasion as the present one would never amount to anything in this business."

Thus do we learn that in being its own reward virtue continues to have few competitors.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Only Proper.

"A dog is man's true and faithful friend," remarked the young woman who paused to pat a haughty looking mastiff on the head.

"Yas'm," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "It's only nach'l he should be. When we goes wifout meat on de table an shoes on our feet to save up money to buy him a tag, 'tain' no mo'n decent foh de dog to reciprocate some."—Washington Star.

"We've simply got enough of it!" protested the neighbors.

The man who had been running scales upon a trombone laughed gayly.

"Then this is what you might call the horn of plenty!" he exclaimed as by sudden inspiration.

Here he laughed again, although near to death.—Detroit Journal.

TOOTH SLAUGHTER

From lack of interest on the part of the owner, or lack of skill on the part of the dentist, thousands of teeth that might be saved are extracted yearly. This slaughter - pure and simple butchery. Teeth are so absolutely vital to the whole scheme of health that the loss of one is a detriment, and modern dental science has spent years in advanced saving methods. Of course extraction is often necessary when the saving is impossible, and modern dental science has obtained that unsuccessfully, too, to make it painless and easy.

HYMENEAL.

Hue-Young.—A pretty wedding ceremony occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Van Gorder, of West Main street, last evening when Miss Ruby Young, a cousin of Mrs. Van Gorder, who has resided with her for a number of years, was united in marriage with Constant L. Hue, of Silverton, Col. The bride was handsomely gowned in a traveling dress of gray Henrietta cloth and carried a bouquet of pink and white peas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. L. Henson in the presence of a large number of guests. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Barlow attended the couple, who stood in front of a group of palms. The musical part of the evening was furnished by an orchestra. At the close of the ceremony the friends of the couple wished them all happiness, after which the whole party adjourned to the lawn, where an elaborate wedding supper was served. The tables were decorated with smilax and vases of flowers and the lawn was illuminated with many Chinese lanterns. Mr. and Mrs. Hue will visit in the city several days before leaving for their Colorado home.

DISCOVERED BY A WOMAN.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Dreier & Bro.'s drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Russia Emerald Mines.

The emerald mines along the Tokova river, in the Russian province of Ekaterinoslav, are owned by the government. A peasant found the first one in 1839 in the roots of a tree that had been blown down. The government mined on its own account until 1862, then leased the mines to contractors, who have lost money on them, because the best emeralds lie near the surface. Those dug up from a depth are inferior. Good emeralds, in view of their growing scarcity, ought to hold their value well.

Revolving Toothbrush.

A revolving toothbrush has been invented by a West India lady. The brush portion is circular; it is attached to a handle that is spirally grooved and slides in a frame. By pressing the end of this handle—which projects beyond the frame—the brush revolves; on discontinuing the pressure the handle springs back to its normal position, causing a further revolution of the brush, and so the movement is maintained.

Melodious Attic Maids.

In Switzerland a milkmaid gets better wages if gifted with a good voice, because it has been discovered that a cow will yield one-fifth more milk if soothed during milking by melody. It would be a very good idea for the milkmaids in this country to cultivate their voices, with a view of making their cows more profitable investments than in the past.

Volunteers of America—Religious services in a tent on Wells street.

General Otis may be all right, but the expressions of the returned volunteers can hardly be regarded as a vote of confidence.

At least General Alger is the biggest man in Michigan.

Under all circumstances President McKinley is the shrewdest of politicians. He declined to be drawn into a game of golf the other day at that Lake Champlain resort.

The family feuds in eastern Kentucky result in some highly interesting functions now and then, but are not a marker to what that democratic feud promises to be by the time election day comes around.

While William Waldorf Astor is transferring his allegiance from the United States of America to the Kingdom of Great Britain, John Jacob Astor is raising and equipping another company for service in the Philippines. All of which shows that Willie Wallie is more of an ass even than he sets up to be.

One of the sailors who served on the cutter McCulloch in the battle of Manila bay, and who received one of the bronze medals voted by congress to those who were in that fight, was on shore leave in Baltimore recently, when a stranger approached him and asked to see the decoration. The landsman finally offered the brave Jack Tar $100 for his Dewey medal and the jackie promptly knocked him down. A policeman who arrived in time to pick up the would-be purchaser refused to arrest the sailor.

A naval court martial has just decided that a man in the marine corps may make love while on duty. A corporal in that service was tried recently for walking his beat with one arm around a pretty girl's waist, but has been pronounced "not guilty" of any act inconsistent with his duty. It is affirmed virtually that to make love to a pretty girl is one of the reserved rights which a man does not surrender when he enters the military and naval services. "The pursuit of happiness" mentioned in the Declaration of Independence as an inalienable right is thus vindicated. This is as it should be. It must be recognized that Mars was ever partial to Venus, and Venus was always readily bewitched by brass buttons.

The proposition to enlist the persons engaged in the Kentucky mountain feuds in the army is thought by the Kansas City Star to be an excellent one. It was thus that the British government secured peace and safety for the tormented Scotch border. By enlisting the turbulent Highlanders in regiments of their own, retaining their picturesque costumes, their wild music and their pipers, the English government settled a vexed problem at home and secured a considerable body of as fine soldiers as ever marched under the British flag. In like manner the Hatfields and McCoys, the Whites and the Morrises might rally to the united flags of their respective families and of the United Stattes. Constitutionally brave, accustomed to arms, perfect shots, hardy and enduring, they would leave their mountain fastnesses to uphold the honor of the United States in every quarter of the world. The charging cry of the Martins, the war whoop of the Philpots would strike terror to the enemies of the American union, and peace would settle down on the hills of Clay and Breathitt. The surplus fighting talent of Kentucky would thus be placed where it would do the most good.

INGERSOLL WAS SORRY.

Eli Perkins, in a letter just sent to the New York Sun, gives this interesting reminiscence of the late Colonel Ingersoll:

"When I was writing my 'Kings of Platform and Pulpit,' Robert Ingersoll kindly sent me what he called his greatest lecture, 'Liberty of Man, Woman and Child,' with many other of his most brilliant sketches. 'In using my speeches,' he wrote, 'do not use any assault I may have thoughtlessly made on Christ, which I foolishly made in my early life. With Renan, I believe Christ was the one perfect man. 'Do unto others' is the perfection of religion and morality. It is the summum bonum. It was loftier than the teachings of Socrates, Plato, Mohammed, Moses or Confucius. It superseded the commandments that Moses claimed to have gotten from God, for with Christ's do-unto-others there could be no murder, lying, covetousness or war. It superseded Greek patriotism, Roman fortitude or Anglo-Saxon bravery, for with do-unto-others, bravery and patriotism would not be needed.'"

NORTHERN INDIANA NOTES.

The lime kilns of Markle are abandoned. It is said this is due to the trust.

Three Kosciusko county boys have lost their lives in the war in the Philippines.

David Johns, who escaped from the Auburn jail last Friday, has been recaptured.

David Nue, a citizen of Wells county since it was a wilderness, is dead at the age of 82.

The Maxinkuckee assembly has closed. For next year a new tabernacle, water works, boat landings and bath houses are planned.

While thrashing on Ed. Turner's farm in Wells county, Tuesday afternoon, stacks of wheat and oats caught fire from the engine and were destroyed. One thousand bushels of grain were burned.

Two mysterious disappearances are disturbing Wells county people. A twenty-year-old son of Chris Stogsdale, living south of Bluffton, went out Monday morning to drive in the cows. The cows came all right, but the boy has not since been seen. Sunday morning Crittenden Close, living in Bluffton, started out on his wheel for a ride, telling his brother he would return in time for breakfast. His whereabouts have been involved in mystery since.

RESOLUTIONS.

Inasmuch as it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst one of our beloved workers; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Banner Union Sunday school, do hereby extend to the bereaved members of the family our heartfelt sympathy for the loss of their beloved son and brother, Carl Kruse.

The death of one so good and patient is a loss not only to the family, but to the Sunday school and community.

Realizing that his life was that of a true Christian we have the satisfaction of the thought that he has now gone to his reward in heaven.

NELLIE BERGER IS FOUND.

HER ABDUCTOR IS LANDED IN MICHIGAN CITY.

Was Caught With the Girl in a Farm House in the Southern Part of the State.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 3.—Miss Nellie Berger, the seventeen-year-old daughter of William Berger, of near Rochester, Ind., who was kidnaped two weeks ago by Clyde Jones, alias Clyde Johnson, was found at the home of Wilbur Acton, near Freetown, twenty miles southwest of here, yesterday. As the Acton family was sitting down to dinner Sheriff Garst, accompanied by Editor Barnhart, of the Rochester Sentinel, arrested Jones, the abductor, before the later had time to escape.

About two weeks ago Jones, alias Johnson, called at the Berger home, in Fulton county, near Rochester, and asked Mr. Berger if he had a daughter who would come to his home and help his wife can fruit and said he would pay $3.50 per week for her work. Jones claimed to have recently moved into the neighborhood. After some hesitation Mr. Berger allowed his daughter to go, advising her that she should write him immediately on her arrival. She left with the stranger and had not been heard of until yesterday.

The father, becoming alarmed after his daughter's continued silence, inquired of the neighbors as to where Jones lived and found out that no such person had moved into that neighborhood. Berger immediately informed the officers and rewards amounting to nearly $1,000 were offered for the arrest of Jones.

Many false rumors were started and eagerly traced to their source by hundreds of neighbors and friends. At last Sheriff Garst traced them to Freetown, where Jones had secured work hauling gravel on the new pikes. Miss Berger had been taken out with him in the gravel wagon that morning.

Sheriff Garst took the abductor last night to Michigan City, where he was placed in prison. The people in the vicinity of Rochester declare they will hang him if caught. Miss Berger was taken to her home last evening by Barnhart. When found she was scantily attired.

She told a pitiful story of how she had been treated since leaving home. She said the nights had been spent in the woods and at farm houses, where Jones claimed that Miss Berger was his sister. He threatened several times to blow her brains out if she said a word to anyone. She made up her mind, she said, to tell Mrs. Acton, at whose home they were found, all about Jones and his crime last night.

Miss Berger is only seventeen years old and has borne an excellent reputation around Rochester, where she lived. Her parents are well to do, having recently inherited several thousand dollars.

Jones, her abductor, is wanted, it is said, for horse stealing in Michigan. Before kidnaping Miss Berger he had succeeded in abducting a girl at West Liberty, Ind., but she escaped.

HAPPENINGS AT WINONA.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

Winona Lake, Aug. 3.—Last night was Warsaw Business Men's evening. Every place of business in Warsaw was closed at 7 o'clock and everybody adjourned to Winona park. About 1,000 people came over on the train.

The College of Music concert was fine. All had a splendid time and returned home more than ever in love with Winona.

Captain Raddick will take his boys' club out on the lake this evening for an excursion and tomorrow evening they will attend the Edison projectoscope entertainment in a body, their first appearance as a club.

There will be a slight charge in the program tomorrow evening. Instead of the lecture by Miss Mary H. Krout, Dr. Robert E. Lyons will speak. We do not know the doctor's subject, but any subject he may choose will not only be full of interest but helpful. We know Dr. Lyons.

Tomorrow evening the Edison projectoscope. An evening of living, moving pictures; our army in actual battle in the Philippines; Admiral Dewey's great naval battle in Manila bay; Colonel Roosevelt's Rough Riders' charge up San Juan hill, and hundreds of other pictures, all in motion as perfectly natural as on the day the event took place. In many respects this is the best thing on the Winona program, as it is something that interests everybody.

Alton Packard tonight, and this means an evening of pictures, humor and carricature. Mr. Packard is a cartoonist abounding in originalities. He selects a piece of green chalk, makes a few passes, and some promiscuous dashes of green appear on the paper; a dash of blue and white, sky and fleecy clouds; three strokes more and there is a farm house in the distance; a little red here, brown there, yellow and black, and there stands before us a beautiful summer landscape. And so it goes on; the "new woman," the countryman, the dude, the man-about-town, are all pictured in turn, and their fads and follies with them. These comic pictures he draws before his auditors with lightning-like rapidity and they bring laughter to every looker-on. Yet with every comic picture there comes to us lessons—helpful instructions.

Rev. Ezra S. Newcomb, D. D., will lecture Saturday morning. Subject: "Scrooby to Plymouth Rock, in the Path of the Pilgrims."

Some of the blind fish recently put into the tank came to an untimely death at the hands of, or, rather, the mouth of a catfish. It afterwards transpired, however, that the blind fish didn't agree with Mr. Catfish any more than Jonah did with the whale.

Rev. Sam Jones remarked to a friend of ours yesterday, "I know summer resorts and Chautauquas, but they are simply not 'in it' for location and beauty as compared with Winona. Winona is great and has a great future."

William Jennings Bryan will lecture here Wednesday afternoon, August 9, on "Pending Problems." Mr. Bryan is known as "the silver tongued orator," and is one of the striking characters of our country. He speaks at 1:30 p. m. and will doubtless have a large hearing.

Landscape Gardener Seele has been investigating and experimenting for the purpose of bringing out some new varieties of the Canna plant. He now has fifteen new varieties, all of them beautiful, which we think will attract more than local attention and become quite popular. The colors are red, yellow and orange, finely blended. He will name it "Winona."

Dr. E. S. Scott, of Reedsburg, Wis., arrived yesterday. Dr. Scott is one of the directors of the Winona Assembly and was its first superintendent.

AN EDUCATIONAL VALUE.

The reason that the kindergarten is the best method of training the young mind is because it entertains while instructing, and the reason why Buffalo Bill's Wild West is the most successful and popular of entertainments is for exactly the same reasons. The scenes representing the early settlement of the western part of our country are entertaining and are object lessons of great value of giving life and motion to those things we have read of in the histories of our school days. The students of anthropology never saw a congregation of people so varied and diverse as is gathered from the four quarters of the globe in this one arena and the opportunities to study by comparison are unequalled elsewhere, and at the same time the value of the study is enhanced by the exhibitions of the various modes of life in peace, in war and in their pastimes as given by these people. Current history, yet unwritten for the school boy or girl, is not neglected, because one of the greatest features of the Wild West this season is the battle of San Juan Hill as presented as a part of this entertainment. Grandchildren of the children of today will read of this famous charge of American soldiers fighting in humanity's cause and will listen with eyes wide open and patriotic hearts pulsating to the story of how Buffalo Bill presented an accurate living picture of that battle and how the real heroes of the war were actual participants in the mimic scene and were honored by the applause of the thousands of Americans who daily witnessed it. For this one scene the names of Cody and Salisbury will go down to children long years hence and their enterprise as amusement caterers will be remembered and appreciated. All the features of the Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders that have appealed so successfully to the public in the past will be retained, and as they have been improved upon greatly since last seen here, they will in many respects appear almost new.

Achilles was invulnerable in every part of the body save his heel. The myth runs that he was rendered invulnerable by being dipped in the river Styx in infancy, the heel by which he was held being the only part not submerged and therefore retaining its mortal weakness.

Everyone has some weak spot in his physical organism, and that weak spot is the invariable attacking point of disease. No man is stronger than that weakest spot in him. We see great robust looking men go down like ninepins, at a touch of disease, and wonder at it. It is simply the wound in the weak spot, the vulnerable heel of Achilles.

It is the office of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to build up the weak places, to strengthen the weak organs of the body. It does this on Nature's own plan of nourishment. Proper food properly assimilated makes a weak man strong. But the man is only an aggregation of parts, so that the strong man means strength of all parts, heart, lungs, liver, nerves, etc. "Golden Medical Discovery" puts into Nature's hands the material by which the stomach is strengthened, the blood purified, the nerves nourished, the lungs vitalized. It makes the weak strong and the sick well. It contains no alcohol or other intoxicant.

Mr. R. J. McKnight, of Cades, Williamsburg Co., S. C., writes: "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad at times I could not leave my bed. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of 'Pellets,' and to-day my health is good."

COMMITTEE IS PREPARING FOR A BIG TIME.

Hon. J. M. Robinson Has Consented to Speak—May be a Balloon Ascension.

The joint committee of the Trades and Labor council and the Knights of Labor met last evening and discussed arrangements for the big Labor day celebration to be held at Swinney park. The committee has decided to keep the people in the city if possible and business men will be asked to assist in making the event equal to those celebrations given less than a decade ago, when the streets were thronged with workingmen and their friends. The celebration will be advertised in cities about Fort Wayne and an effort will be made to secure excursion rates. There will be an athletic program and suitable prizes will be iven the winners. The music committee reported that the Olympia band had been engaged for the day. Among the attractions it is probable there will be a balloon ascension.

A letter received from Hon. James M. Robinson informed the committee that he had accepted the invitation to deliver the address at Swinney park, and it is probable that Rev. T. J. Johnston, of Simpson M. E. church, will be asked to deliver the address in the evening. The following letter will be sent to business men:

"Fort Wayne, Ind., August 2, 1899.—Labor day, 1899, will be celebrated by the Trades and Labor council, Knights of Labor and organized labor of Fort Wayne in general at Swinney park, Monday, September 4, 1899. The celebration takes pince in the city. The festivities of 1896 and 1898 were held at Robison park, and the expenses were borne mainly by the street railway company. This year the celebration will be entirely independent of Robison park. Swinney park is easy of access by the entire population of the city. The event will be free and will be conducted both day and night, and the amusements will be of an elaborate and highly entertaining order. In order to give this entertainment the Labor day committee has authorized Edward Miller, C. F. Baker, H. A. Rogers and E. S. Baker to solicit funds through the Labor day program, and it will be a pleasure to organized labor to have all who are approched patronize said program as liberally as possible, because from it the main cost of the celebration will be defrayed.

"Swinney park is easy of access, and there are thousands of people in the city who will hail with pleasure another Labor day celebration in the limits of the city, in a location so central, beautiful and historic, without the necessity for street car fare to attend, nor money with which to enjoy the festivities.

"In order to give the event it is necessary to raise a substantial fund, and as the committee does not intend to solicit in any other manner except through the program of the day, the business men of the city will be asked to help with the celebration only by patronizing the Labor day program and by doing this they will materially assist in building up the fund for the occasion. Therefore, we hope you will respond liberally when our solicitors call.

"For the Labor day committee:
"Thos. W. Phillips, Chairman.
"William Schultz, Secretary."

THE PRESIDENT'S MOVEMENTS.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 3.—The president was out early this morning and about 9 o'clock went for a long walk towards the lake, accompanied by Dr. Rixey. Mrs. McKinley's health continues to improve. Miss Duncan, the president's niece, who had been confined to her room with a cold for four days, has recovered and was out last evening for the first time. The president said today that he had heard with great regret of the death of Colonel Hawkins, whose gallantry in the Philippines was so marked as to command special mention by his superior officers. The president expresed deep sympathy with the family of Colonel Hawkins and with the men of the regiment he so conspicuously commanded.

NEW POTATOES.

How to Treat the Summer Potato, Parisian Practices.

The summer potato requires entirely different treatment from the winter tuber, which has grown stale and strong from long storage. There are now many delicious ways in which this vegetable may be cooked which are not desirable methods later when the potatoes are no longer fresh, says the New York Tribune.

One reason why new potatoes are so much better than old ones is because they are not peeled and the starchy coat on the outside, as well as the saline salts of the vegetable, are thus preserved. It is a mistake to peel a potato before it is boiled. Keep a stiff little vegetable scrubbing brush on hand. Put the potatoes in cold water and scrub them clean with the brush. In summer throw potatoes with their jackets on into boiling water and peel them as soon as they are boiled and serve them.

A distinction should be made between the waxen, half ripe potato of early summer and the fully ripe, fresh tuber, which is a potato in perfection. Half ripe potatoes are never wholesome, though the Germans prefer these immature vegetables for their favorite salad.

It is a mistake to use half ripe potatoes or to use cold potatoes when freshly cooked potatoes can be obtained. The best potato salad can hardly be recommended on the score of wholesomeness, yet it should be remembered that the condiments used in its preparation assist digestion, and that a potato salad is therefore far more digestible than a half ripe, waxen boiled potato simply dressed in butter.

Parisian cooks seldom use cold potatoes. When they wish to cook potatoes rapidly for a garnish to meat for breakfast, they usually cut the raw potatoes in small ornamental shapes of uniform size, which will cook quickly. Sometimes the potatoes are cut into julienne shaped pieces about the thickness of two matches and the length of a short parlor match. More often, however, they are shaped into small balls, or "pears," with scoops. A good steel potato scoop, cutting a ball of three-quarters of an inch in diameter, costs about 40 cents. It should have a small hole in the center of the bowl to admit air.

THE MARKET DULL AND WEAK.

LIVERPOOL CABLES HAD A LOWER TENDENCY.

This Was Offset by Crop Damage Reports in the Northwest—The Markets in General.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Early trading in wheat today was influenced by an unlooked-for drain in Liverpool cables. The English market was ⅛@¾c lower, notwithstanding yesterday's advance here, and the local market was depressed accordingly. September opened ⅜c lower at 69⅛@69⅜c. The decline at Liverpool was due, it was claimed, to more favorable weather in England and on the continent. There was no selling pressure of importance, and opening prices were the lowest of the morning.

Continued reports of damage to northwest wheat fields by recent storms checked the decline. It was estimated that at least $1,000,000 worth of grawing wheat, covering an area of about 150,000 acres, much of it in the Red River valley, had been almost entirely destroyed.

September advanced steadily to 70c when realizing sales caused a reaction to 69⅜@69⅝c. Northwest receipts were light, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 229 cars against 392 last week and 77 a year ago.

Chicago receipts were 94 cars, 10 of contract grade.

Corn was firm and higher, with a good trade. There was considerable buying on the continued hot weather west. Cables were stronger and receipts light, 348 cars. September opened unchanged at 30⅜@30½c and advanced to 30⅞@31c.

Oats were dull but strong, though good harvesting reports caused a little easiness around the opening. Receipts were 275 cars. September opened a shade lower at 19¼@19⅜c, advanced to 19⅝c and reacted to 19½c.

Provisions were dull but firm. Yellow fever reports were not so depressing and hog prices in the local market were higher. Shorts bought moderately.

September pork opened 2½c higher at $8.32½, advanced to $8.50 and reacted to $8.42½.

September lard opened 2½c higher at $5.30, advanced to $5.35 and reacted to $5.32½.

September ribs opened a shade higher at $4.95@4.97½ and advanced to $5.02½@5.05.

THE CLOSE.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—Sept., 69⅜c; Dec., 71½c; May, 74⅝c.
Corn—Aug., 30⅝c; Sept., 30½c; Dec., 29c; May, 30@30⅛c.
Oats—Aug., 19⅝c; Sept., 19⅜@19¼c; Dec., 19⅝@19⅜c; May, 21⅛@21¾c.
Pork—Aug., $8.37½; Sept., $8.42½; Oct., $8.47½; Jan., $9.05.
Lard—Aug., $5.30; Sept., $5.32½; Dec., $5.45; Jan., $5.52½; Oct., $5.37½@5.40.
Ribs—Aug., $5.00; Sept., $5.02½@5.05; Oct., $5.07½; Jan., $4.92½.
Flax—Cash N. W., $1.01; Cash S. W., 97c; Sept., 96c; Oct., 95⅝c; Dec., 95½c.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Estimated receipts of hogs today, 12,000; tomorrow, 18,000. Market active, 10c higher. Mixed and butchers, $4.25@4.65; good heavy, $4.45@4.02½; rough heavy, $3.95@4.35; light, $4.40@4.75.

Cattle—Receipts, 5,000. Market 10c higher. Beeves, $4.60@6.05; cows and heifers, $2.00@5.25; Texas steers, $3.50@4.75; stockers and feeders, $3.25@4.90.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 3.—The stock market was unsettled and decidedly irregular at the opening. The specialties generally advanced sharply, Sugar leading. The railroads on the other hand were inclined to sag in spite of advances in prices in London. Great Western debentures fell over 2 points. On the other hand Great Western preferred A rose a point and St. Louis Southwestern preferred a large fraction.

Brooklyn Transit, Rock Island and People's Gas were raided by the bears. Their success encouraged them to extend their ventures and Sugar, Steel and Wire, Manhattan, Tobacco and the Grangers dipped decidedly. United States Rubber was lifted 1½, but did not regain all the rise. Chicago Great Western debentures gained their losses.

Business became very light, but there was a gradually hardening tendency. Tobacco, Tennesee Coal and Colorado Fuel were strong and ruled from 1 to 2 points above last night.

A few inconspicuous shares dropped sharply, including St. Paul and Duluth, Pittsburg, C., C. and St. Louis preferred and Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville preferred. The market closed off again before noon.

Sales to noon, 207,128 shares.

Most of the bond purchases were in the speculative issues. Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf firsts rose to 65½c.

The bears were busy in the final hour and carried prices generally downwards. Steel and Wire and Glucose, Sugar refining declined about 2 points from the best. The recession in many railroad stocks approached a point and bids were lowered without bringing out much stock.

Tobacco rallied again: Tennessee Coal rose to 79, and covering by shorts brought prices up slightly. The Pressed Steel Car stocks dropped about a point. Brooklyn Transit was suddenly marked up to 116, causing a scramble among shorts.

THE MONEY MARKET

Surgery from Hens.

Port Jervis Special New York World: Mrs. George E. Dingley of Huguenot had six sick hens. A diagnosis showed the trouble to be in their crops. With the assistance of a farm hand, Edward Blood, she gave each hen a light dose of chloroform, and, cutting open their crops, removed the cause of the trouble. Mrs. Dingley washed out the crops, greased them with vaseline, and sewed up the wounds with silk thread. Every hen survived the operation. Mrs. Dingley also raised 115 chicks from a setting of nine hens. This she accomplished by taking each brood of young from the hens immediately after they were hatched and placing fresh eggs beneath the patient hens.

Life Plant.

There is a strange wild plant in Guadaloupe called the "life plant." If a leaf be broken off and pinned by the stem to the wall of a warm room each of the angles between the curves of the leaf margin soon throws out a number of very white tentacles or roots, and soon a tiny new plant begins to sprout, and in the course of a week or two is two or three inches in height. When the old leaf shrivels the new plant is cut off and planted. The plant bears curious red and yellow blossoms.

Diamonds in Pretoria.

The area of the Pretoria diamond fields continues to be increasing by discoveries in almost every direction, and the yield from the extensive wash is reported as highly encouraging, the yield from some of the mines for the first three months of the year ranging as high as 6,000 carats.

INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.

Track and Field Contests Between Leading American and English College Teams—Differences In Methods and Conditions—Individual Records.

BY LEO ETHERINGTON.

All who are interested in athletic sports are looking forward to the international track and field games that are to take place on the 22d of July between teams representating the universities of Harvard and Yale on the one side and Cambridge and Oxford on the other. The American team will spend the time between their arrival in England and the day of the games at Brighton, the famous watering place on the south coast, where the air is very bracing. The experience of the Yale team which competed against the Oxonians a few years ago has not been forgotten. At that time the American athletes spent too much time in England before the games and likewise made the mistake of spending the intervening days at Oxford. This year the visitors will have only time enough to get rid of their sea legs before the contests take place and should be in good shape.

Here is a list of the men who will form the Oxford-Cambridge team:

Hundred yard dash, C. R. Thomas (Oxford) and A. L. Hind (Cambridge); quarter mile run, A. M. Hollins (Oxford) and C. G. Davison (Cambridge); half mile run, H. E. Graham (Oxford) and C. F. W. Struben (Cambridge); mile run, R. B. Arnold and A. L. Dawson (Oxford) and A. Hunter (Cambridge); three mile run, A. R. G. Willerforce (Oxford) and H. W. Workman and A. Winterbotham (Cambridge); high jump, H. S. Adair and E. N. V. Brooke (Oxford); long jump, G. C. Vassall (Oxford) and L. R. O. Recan (Cambridge); hammer throwing, J. D. Greenshields (Oxford) and L. O. T. Baines (Cambridge); 120 yard hurdle race, H. R. Parkes (Oxford) and W. Paget-Tomlinson (Cambridge).

Dawson, who will take part in the mile run, is the hero of the sensational championship mile run in the intercollegiate games last year. The Cantabs and Oxonians are not employing a professional trainer, but are under the care of C. N. Jackson, treasurer of Hertford college, Oxford.

In England it is the custom to run with the right shoulder to the pole, which is the opposite of the way in which the track is circled in America. The Yale and Harvard runners practiced the new way before they left on the steamer, so as to get used to it. Another matter in which the Britishers differ from us is in the use of fixed hurdles, and they run the event on the turf. When the Yale men in 1891 ran over these fixed obstacles, it was found that the possibility of a serious fall, not possible when movable hurdles are used, had the effect of making them clear the sticks with more than enough room, thus running a slower race. This year the Britishers have consented to the use of movable obstacles.

On paper the merits of the two teams are very even. Comparison by reference to past records is very uncertain in this case, however, for the Americans will be competing under entirely new climatic conditions and the intervarsity games between Cambridge and Oxford took place in very unfavorable weather last March. Therefore the Englishmen are almost certain to do better than they did then, while it is very doubtful if the Americans can equal their previous efforts.

The 120 yard hurdle race promises to be one of the closest of the contests. Fox of Harvard and Fincke of Yale have records of 15⅘ seconds for this event, and Paget-Tomlinson of Cambridge has gone the distance in 16 seconds on a wet grass track. Parkes of Oxford is a good man in this event, as is Halliwell of Harvard.

The 100 yard run was won by C. R. Thomas of Oxford in the joint games in the slow time of 10 2-5 seconds. Since then he has covered the distance in even time, while Hind of Cambridge can probably make it in 10 1-5 seconds. Blount and Fisher of Yale and Quinlan of Harvard are the three men from whom a choice will be made for our team. Blount won the event at the intercollegiate games in 10 1-5 seconds and is said to be equal to 10 seconds now.

Burke of Harvard is the bright particular star in the quarter mile dash and should win that event with ease. He can make the distance in 49 2-5 seconds when in good shape. Boardman of Yale is good for 49 4-5 seconds in the event. Hollins of Oxford made the distance in 51 2-5 seconds on a cold, damp day, while Davison of Cambridge is a 51 seconds man.

Graham of Cambridge is the best man the Britishers have for the half mile. His record is 1:59 3-5, but he can do several seconds better in good weather. Burke of Harvard has made the half in 1:55, but was all out in 1:58 4-5 at the recent intercollegiate games. Adams of Yale won the event in 1:57 2-5 in the Yale-Harvard dual games.

Spitzer of Yale can cover the mile in 4:25, while H. B. Clarke is another good one at the distance. Hunter of Cambridge has a record of 4:35, from which he can probably clip 4 or 5 seconds.

Rice of Harvard jumped 6 feet 1 inch at the intercollegiate games, while Waller of Yale and Rotch of Harvard can do 5 feet 11 inches at the high jump. Adair of Oxford is the best the Englishmen have, and his record is only 5 feet 8¼ inches.

L. C. Vassall of Oxford is in a class by himself in the long jump. His record is 22 feet 3 inches, which is nearly a foot better than any Harvard or Yale man can do. Daly of Harvard took third place in the intercollegiate games with 22 feet 4½ inches and is the best on the visiting team.

Boal of Harvard outranks any man the Britishers can put forward in the hammer throw. His record is 132 feet 9 inches, while Greenshields, the best of the opponents, has never done better than 110 feet 1 inch.

Mr. Sherrill of Yale, who has done much of the preliminary work in bringing the teams together and who has accompanied the college men to England to look after their interests, thinks the Americans have very good chances of winning the hammer throw, the high jump, the quarter and the half mile. The Britishers promise well for the broad jump, the three mile and the one mile events. This leaves the 100 yard dash and the 120 yard hurdle race problematical.

The games will take place at the Queen's club grounds, London, on which the light and dark blues are wont to hold their annual track and field sports. They are situated in the Kensington district of the British metropolis and are in many respects ideal athletic grounds. The turns in all but one case are sharp and the track is far from oval. The running track is one-third of a mile in circumference. There is ample room for the 100 yard dash, but not for the 220 yard run, which event is not commonly contested in England.

It is interesting to note that while the British team will contain the flower of the athletes in their colleges there are in American universities men who hold records surpassing those of the members of the Yale-Harvard team in every event save one.

Good Form In Golf.

Good form in golf does not necessarily mean a series or combination of graceful attitudes, nor does a bad style always follow exaggerated crooks of the elbow and bending of the legs. Back of all this comes the real and important essential, the true golfing swing. The clubhead must be made to travel in the line with the flight of the ball and with sufficient speed at the instant of impact. The perfect arc of the circle must be maintained, and so long as this is accomplished the peculiarities of the angles with arms and legs does not make any particular difference. As the finer points of the game become mastered by its devotees in this country more attention is given to the laying out of links. On most of the courses throughout the United States the distances between the holes are not conducive to good golf—that is, a man may play a hole perfectly and yet not defeat an opponent who has made a mistake on either his first or second shot.

Roosevelt In Athletics.

Governor Roosevelt is endeavoring to have an all American team of athletes formed to represent the United States at the Paris Exposition next year. The team will not only consist of track and field men, but rowing, water polo and swimming experts will be included.

How Reiff Rides.

Johnny Reiff, who is after Tod Sloane's laurels as a jockey in England, rides at 82 pounds and is considered a wonder. Last year he made a great record in California. Messrs. Duke and Wishard secured an option on his services. Trainer McCafferty, who knows him well, said of Sloane's new rival: "Johnny is a very clever little boy, bright, dark eyed and a favorite. He has been riding only a year, but has scored many successes and is a thorough horseman. He is patient, gentle and diplomatic in treating his mount. The Reiff brothers, John and Lester, have abandoned the short stirrup straps and other extreme points of the American style of riding. Johnny is now winning by adopting a safe compromise between the English and American styles. Given first class mounts, he is sure to make a record."

UTILIZING CRIMINALS.

A Novel Suggestion In Regard to the Philippines.

A western lawyer, A. J. Sawyer, recommends that the criminals of the United States be sent to the Philippines as missionaries. We are spending millions of money annually, says he, in keeping in our mid-t the criminals, in maintaining jails, prisons and other places for confining the criminal classes, which are nothing more or less than schools and colleges where crimes are taught and the graduates rendered more proficient in the art of crime. In my judgment, all the criminals who are found among us should be sent where they can get all the barbarism they want. Nearly all nations have practiced banishment until recently, and many of the most enlightened governments are still practicing it for certain high crimes. England started her empire in America and Australia by it. We are maintaining hundreds of public nuisances, monasteries of malignity, for the more complete eradication of virtue in the depraved than is otherwise possible. We have thousands of convicts who to our civilization are mischievous and dangerous. To the Filipino they would be an invaluable help. They would become industrious missionaries, better than Christian missionaries for being more like the rogues among whom they would be sent. They would understand each other better than either of them now understand the missionaries.

During our civil war crime almost ceased throughout the country, because the war created a demand for the criminal and made him useful. Colonization of criminals would do exactly the same thing. Would it not be better for civilization if the treatment which we apply to missionaries and criminals should be exactly reversed? Let us send the criminal to the heathen and place the missionaries under that great reform process, the penitentiary, with such changes, of course, in the institution as would adapt it to its new inmates. Let us adhere to the principle that righteousness, like crime, is the best cultivated by gathering large quantities of it together in one spot. We would then intensify piety at home, as we now intensify crime. If it would bring out our missionaries as much better as it now makes our criminals worse, our home righteousness would be irresistible.

One reason why the heathen cannot get along better with the missionaries is that the ethics of the missionary are too high for them. Their self esteem will not suffer them to believe that there is anybody better than they are. It has been wisely said that "they cannot trust a man who does not mean to cheat them, who looks upon the restraints of civilization as too few instead of too many and upon the methods of industry as being too sordid instead of too honest, who takes no delight in stealing, does not know what it is even to lie, owns only one wife and never whips her." In their inability to comprehend him they unconsciously believe that he must keep on hand some concealed stock of deeper villainy than they have found out in him, and they will not ethically and aesthetically mix with him. They are like the American Indians in the presence of the Puritan and Saxon, between whom there could be no blood fellowship, nothing but extermination from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

WAR MONUMENT.

Commemorating Our Victories Over Spain.

Philip Louis Santi, a Brooklyn architect, wants to commemorate our victories in the recent war with Spain and submits plans for a pretentious monument. The plans provide for a building 462 feet high, surmounted by a crystal sphere 230 feet in diameter, a true reproduction of the warship Olympia to crown the monument. If constructed in Battery park, the monument, by means of the crystal sphere illuminated with electricity at night, would throw a noonday light over the entire bay.

Around the sphere a garden is provided for. The ground floor, according to the plans, contains four large public halls with eight entrances. Four great staircases lead to the first floor or promenade, and from this floor four other stairways and elevators for ascending to the upper floors. Provisions are also made for dining, billiard and reading rooms, and within the great sphere an immense public hall is provided for, with a floor surface of 113,760 square feet.

THE AUTOMOBILE GIRL.

She Has Come to Stay, For Her Pad Is Ultra Fashionable.

By Annette Crawford

The automobile girl is here. Here is the very swellest of fads, the most exclusive of sports. Almost anyone may bicycle or golf, but it takes a long, fat purse to indulge in an automobile.

Thus early in its career fashion has claimed the automobile for its very own. The American automobile girl is prompt to appear in the field. Only her Parisian sisters were before her. In London it is still considered bad taste for a woman to ride unaccompanied by a gentleman in a motor carriage, and no English woman of standing has yet been bold enough to defy public sentiment on this point.

But the American girl long ago that is, months ago—adopted the automobile cab for shopping and calling purposes. Now she has dispensed with the liveried driver and takes the steering lever into her own hands. In her park phaeton or cabriolet little dog cart, propelled either by electricity or gasoline, she glides fearlessly along the avenue and boulevards, very much at ease and looking sweet and happy and altogether charming.

The bicycle girl, with her hat, flushed face; the golf girl, with her short skirts and dusty boots, and the yachting girl, with her stringy front hair, suffer sadly when compared with this queenly young creature who leans gracefully back against the thick cushions in all the finery of morning attire and sweeps noiselessly past.

It is the ability to wear the finest of gowns while indulging in this sport that has decided fashion in favor of the automobile. It is a fad which a woman may pursue and at the same time look her prettiest. So it has come to stay.

Newport is just now the principal habitat of the automobile girl. The smooth shaded boulevards of that fashionable seaport are fairly alive with horseless vehicles of every sort. Stand at any point on Bellevue avenue in the afternoon and you can count them by the dozens.

They may also be seen along the ocean boulevard which connects Long Branch with Elberon, Seabright and Asbury Park on the populous Jersey coast. Chicago heiresses have gladly welcomed them, and Prairie avenue glistens with the nickel and varnish of the self propelled carriages.

This season the automobile girl is a novelty; next year she will be an established fact, surprising only to people from the remote ruralities.

Her conveyance is a light and graceful carriage, with wire spoked wheels and pneumatic rubber tires. It moves to the right or to the left at the slightest touch of the nickel plated lever.

Sometimes the fair owner commits the guiding of the machine to her groom or to her escort, but that is not very often. She can drive the automobile herself, and she has a just contempt for all bicycles, trucks and ice wagons. The pressure of her toe upon a pin sets the gong to ringing, and a twist of the lever stops the carriage. She need not worry lest her carriage runs away with her, and she has no fear of iron shod heels suddenly appearing over the dashboard.

The horsewoman, the bicyclist and all the rest of them must take a back seat, for the girl with the automobile has come to stay.

She goes shopping in the morning hours and permits the machine to stand in front of the shops without having the slightest fear of finding it tearing down the street when she returns. She travels in state to make calls in the afternoon, and if she will she can take a spin into the country. She can load her carriage with golf sticks and with her companions hurry out to the clubhouse and spend the afternoon on the links. She has no horses to worry her with the thought that they are hot and uncomfortable.

The automobile needs neither feeding nor watering. If the battery is strong enough it will easily carry her a score of miles and bring her back again without additional charges of electricity.

It will not be many years before there will be little stations all along the principal highways where automobiles can be charged with motive power and sent whizzing on their way.

Can't Shake It Off.

"Yes, that's his fad. He is a good surgeon, but for the last ten years he has studied nothing but warts."

"Well, that's a sort of thing that grows on one, you know."

HOW TO KEEP COOL.

Valuable Suggestions For Avoiding Heat Prostration.

First of all, keep the brain cool. Wear the lightest possible covering on the head. The cork helmets, such as are worn in tropical climates, are the best summer headgear. These may be made to keep the wearer still cooler by placing in them a moist sponge, which, indeed, may also be attached to the interior of any style of hat. Do not worry.

When you rise from bed on hot summer mornings, take a cold bath. Now there are few simple things in life that are less understood than the fine art—for it is a fine art—of bathing. Most people spend from half an hour to an hour every time they bathe. That is not the kind of bathing I mean. The cold bath in the morning should consist merely of one plunge into cold water.

Avoid as far as possible the heat of cooking. Cook no more than you can help, and if possible let what little cooking you do be done in the open air.

Take no alcoholic drinks or other stimulants of any kind. Injurious as alcoholic stimulants are at all times, except in certain diseased conditions of the system, when ordered by a thoroughly competent and conscientious physician, they are more than usually deleterious in hot weather. Nevertheless that is the very time of year when the consumption of them is greatest. To quench the intense thirst which is an inseparable accompaniment of a high temperature many persons have recourse to beer and other alcoholic drinks. There could be no greater mistake. There is only one fluid that will quench thirst, and that fluid is water. Every other known liquid tends to increase thirst rather than to assuage it. Still the devotees of King Alcohol continue to pour his fiery potations down their already parched throats in hot weather. That is the surest possible way not to keep cool and to predispose yourself to a heat stroke or sunstroke.

Sponging the entire surface of the body with tepid water, to which a little bay rum or alcohol has been added, is very cooling and may be practiced frequently during the day, alcohol, when applied externally, being quite as beneficial as it is injurious when absorbed into the circulation through the medium of the stomach.

No two people should sleep together in hot weather. Every individual should have a bed to himself or herself.

Though drinking iced water tends to lower the temperature of the body, yet if we drink it at all we are apt to be tempted to an immoderate use of it, which is to be decidedly reprehended. It so lowers the temperature of the stomach as to temporarily check digestion, and its effects are injurious in other ways.

How to Keep the Hair In Curl.

Take the root of althaea boiled in water, one-eighth pound to a gallon, and thin to suit, and apply to the hair to keep it in curl, at the seaside or anywhere else. After applying put the hair in the desired position and allow it to dry. If too much shows on the hair, brush it out or off. The curl will remain.

How to Iron Linen.

Wash the linen carefully and thoroughly; then let it hang in the sun just long enough to iron nicely without being forced to sprinkle it. When the wrinkles have once dried in the linen, it is very difficult to remove all of them with the iron. Next have a very hot iron, not hot enough to scorch, but sufficient to dry the linen rapidly when passed over it. It must be ironed until perfectly dry; otherwise the luster and brilliancy that are so attractive will not be obtained. Linen good linen starch should be avoided just as much as upon silk fabrics. Starch may give "body" to some cheap thin grades of linen, but it is entirely out of place on good linen.

How to Fry Whitefish.

Put the tiny fish in a cloth with a handful of flour, fold up loosely and with the assistance of somebody shake them about until quite dry. Have ready some boiling lard, drop them into it and fry for about two minutes. Drain in a sieve, and serve with brown bread and butter and sliced lemon.

How to Make Bread Sauce.

Half a cupful of fine, dry, white bread crumbs must be stirred lightly into a cupful of scalding milk, with the invariable bit of soda added in boiling. Add half a teaspoonful of onion juice, paprika and a little salt; set over the fire in a double boiler and simmer five minutes to cook the bread; add a tablespoonful of butter and, if you like, a "scrape" of nutmeg. Serve in a gravy boat with boiled or roast chicken. Do not cook into paste. It should be just thin enough to be easily ladled out. Don't stir while it is cooking.

How to Perfume Linen.

Roll either a piece of orrisroot or a small bag of pulverized orrisroot with the lingerie. Either of these will give the articles a faint fragrance as mysterious as it is delightful.

How to Cook Spinach and Sardines.

Cook your spinach, boiling a small onion with the leaves. Strain when done and chop it fine. Skin and bone a dozen sardines, mince them fine and stir into the spinach. Mix a dessertspoon of butter and the same of flour to a paste and dilute it with a cup of broth. Stir it to a thick sauce, then mix in the spinach and sardines. Garnish with white of egg chopped fine and a mass of fine crumbled egg in the center.

How to Remove Ink From Wood.

A drop or two of pure spirits of niter rubbed with a wet cloth will remove ink stains from a mahogany or other kind of table or writing desk.

A Still More Terrible Prospect.

"It is awful not to know where your next dinner is coming from."

"I don't know. At the place where I board it seems worse to know where your next dinner is coming from."—

TRAINS COLLIDE.

A DOUBLE-HEADER SMASH-UP ON EEL RIVER.

FIREMAN REPLOGLE KILLED

AND AN ENGINEER INJURED BY JUMPING.

FOUR ENGINES MASS OF RUINS

AND EIGHT CARS AND THEIR CONTENTS DESTROYED.

A collision of double-header freight trains occurred on the Eel River division of the Wabash, two miles east of La Otto, at 5:30 o'clock last night.

As a result of the accident, E. I. Replogle, a student fireman who was "learning the road," is dead, four engines are a mass of scrap iron and eight cars are more of less damaged.

The scene of the accident being on the Detroit branch, no report of it was made to the officials here, and The Sentinel is indebted to Ira E. Young, a merchant at La Otto, for the particulars, which were received by telephone and which are as follows:

The unfortunate trains were Nos. 98 and 99, through fast freights, both being hauled by engines coupled and run as "double headers." Conductor Ray, of the eastbound train, No. 98, received orders at La Otto to side track and allow the westbound train to pass, but he did not read them correctly, or did not read them at all, and signaled the engineer to "go ahead." At the place where the wreck occurred the view is obstructed by curves and grades and when the engineers discovered the situation, their trains were running at a high rate of speed, possibly twenty or thirty miles an hour, and it was impossible to even check the velocity a little, though levers were reversed and brakes applied.

In the crash the two head engines were driven together, their parts being jammed one into the other so deeply and closely that the line of demarkation was invisible and they had the appearance of one machine.

One of the rear engines, in train 98, was jammed half way through a stock car loaded with hogs, killing nearly every animal, while the rear engine of train 99 was thrown in the ditch, where it laid upon its side, a mass of ruins half buried in the earth.

Eight cars were derailed and some of them were totally demolished. All were loaded with live stock, grain or merchandise and their cargos are nearly a total loss.

When it was evident that a collision was inevitable, all the men on the engines sprang for their lives but Mr. Replogle, who was so badly frightened that he did not know what to do and, hence, remained in the cab and rode to his death. His lifeless body was removed from the wreck and taken to La Otto this morning. Later it was sent to Deedsville, Ind., the home of the young man's parents.

The engineer of engine 76 was painfully hurt, having an ankle sprained and his hips and back badly bruised. He resides in Peru and was taken there this morning. His name could not be learned by The Sentinel's informant, owing to the reticence of the train crews, who refused to talk concerning the wreck.

Conductor Ray, in talking with the members of the crews after the wreck, took upon himself all the responsibility of the accident. He did not expect orders to meet a train at La Otto, and when the paper was handed him by the operator, he did not stop to read it, but gave the signal to "go ahead."

The accident occurred in DeKalb county, and will be investigated by the coroner of that county, who viewed the remains of the unfortunate fireman before permitting them to be removed to his late home.

The engines in the wreck were Nos. 413 and 578 and Nos. 76 and 369, coupled in the order named. They will be brought here for repairs as soon as they can be placed upon wheels and prepared for the journey.

The wreck crews were summoned from Peru and Montpelier and a track was soon built around the pile of locomotives and cars and traffic was delayed only for two or three hours.

TEMPORARILY SETTLED.

No item of news has attracted more attention from the Wabash shopmen in this city than the telegram that appeared in The Sentinel yesterday concerning the trouble between the shop officials and the machinists of the Grand Trunk at Port Huron, Mich. Master Mechanic Mulhfield and General Foreman J. C. Gehring, of the Grand Trunk, are former citizens of Fort Wayne and they have with them eight or ten machinists who were at one time employed in the Wabash shops in this city. The Fort Wayne friends of the Port Huron men will be pleased to learn that there is prospect of an amicable settlement of the troubles, as indicated by an Associated Press dispatch to The Sentinel, received this morning. It reads as follows:

"Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 3.—The striking machinists at the Grand Trunk locomotive works returned to work today. The men took Mechanical Superintendent Mulhfield's statement that he will investigate, as an indication that he will accede to their demands. If he decides that the company has the sole right to employ whosoever it sees fit, and that the union is permitted to have no voice in the matter, the men will go out again. The chances appear good, however, for an amicable settlement, as neither the men nor the officers of the company are looking for any trouble that can be avoided."

PUTTING IN A NEW WIRE.

N. C. McKinley and a gang of linemen are engaged in extending the Pennsylvania west end train wire to the east yard offices. At present they only go to the dispatcher's office and the new arrangement is made necessary by the changes brought about by the establishment of a terminal division at Chicago.

WILL ARRIVE NEXT WEEK.

The immense engines ordered by the Wabash from the Baldwin works several months ago are expected to commence arriving next week. They will be placed in service on the Toledo and Detroit branches as soon as tested. The company is short of power and the new engines will be welcomed. There are many freight engines in service at present that are only awaiting a lull in traffic which will allow them an opportunity to go to the shops for a general overhauling.

WILL BUILD A HOSPITAL.

The Mexican Central company has adopted the Wabash's hospital system and will build one of the finest railway hospitals in the country. It will be located at Aguas Colienles, the new mechanical headquarters of the railway company. The hospital proper, with the various smaller buildings in which its auxiliary establishments will be located, will form an independent community. The main and all the lesser buildings will be modern in style and very handsome. They will be built of stone with brick trimmings. The main building will be two stories high, with a length of 209 feet, and a depth of 89 feet. It will be entirely surrounded by a spacious veranda. There will be two large systems of wards, one for American and one for Mexican patients. There will be well equipped operating and drug rooms, bath rooms and other quarters. The hospital will have its own laundry, bakery, dairy and several cisterns, and large stables for horses and cows. The entire hospital establishment will cover some two acres of ground.

PENNOCK'S SUCCESSOR.

Thomas W. Demarest has been appointed master mechanic of the Logansport division of the Panhandle lines, succeeding Mr. Pennock, whose death occurred by drowning in Hudson lake a few weeks ago. Mr. Demarest was formerly general foreman of the locomotive department of the Panhandle shops at Indianapolis.

WILLIAMS RESIGNS.

Lewis S. Williams, for eleven years lumber inspector and buyer for the Fort Wayne Organ company, has tendered his resignation to the company. He has accepted a position with the Mason & Hamlin company, of Cambridgeport, Mass. Mr. Williams will probably operate in this section of the country, and in case he does he will retain his residence in this city.

Machinists J. C. Wood and Thomas O'Rourke went to Peru this morning to work in the Wabash shops.

H. Ruthert resumed his place in the Pittsburg shops this morning. A week ago he had some fingers hurt.

Louis Stetter, Benjamin Bowers and D. Collins, of the Pittsburg shops, are off duty on account of sickness.

George Birely, sweeper in the carpenter department of the Pittsburg shops, is confined at home by sickness.

Pittsburg engine 271, which was in the wreck at Plymouth a few days ago, has been repaired and turned over to service.

Machinist James Cairnes reported for duty at the Pitsburg shops this morning. For six weeks he was visiting in Kansas.

John Disser, upholsterer at the Pittsburg shops, has gone to Mendon, Mich., for a visit. His family went to that place some days ago.

W. S. Morris took a position in the Pittsburg boiler shop this morning. He was formerly employed by the Wabash, at Springfield, Ill..

The Wabash will pay taxes in the state of Indiana upon property valued at $4,880,000. This is about the same as the assessment of last year.

The east bound shipments from Chicago last week were 134,280 tons, including 114,478 tons of flour and grain and 19,782 tons of provisions.

Patrick Murphy, of the electric works, had his left thumb split from hand to tip, the wound extending to the bone. He is employed in the laboratory.

The engineer of maintenance of way of the Chicago terminal division of the Pennsylvania lines has not yet been named and until one is appointed E. G. Ericson, of the Pittsburg, and Mr. Byers, of the Panhandle, will have charge as heretofore.

Gus Menefee, an engineer on the Detroit division of the Wabash, brought an engine here for repairs this morning and spent the day in circulating among old friends.

W. F. Hite, traveling freight representative of the Chesepeake and Ohio road, has, so it is rumored, been tendered the superintendency of the Ohio River Railroad company.

S. Abram, who has been employed as a helper in the boiler shop at the Bass works will take a position as fireman on the Pittsburg and has resigned his place at Bass's for that purpose.

The Ohio state board of railroad appraisers has acceded to the request of the Pennsylvania company to reduce the appraisement of sixty miles of its tracks on the Richmond division $1,000 per mile.

Arthur Henstock, who recently returned from England, this morning assumed charge of the fixture department of the electric works, which position was vacated by William Brizzolari a few weeks ago.

The improvements to be made by the Big Four at Anderson, and which are now under way, will include switching yards to cost half a million and a round house with full equipment for all business of a leading divisional point.

The Panhandle has begun work at Anderson on a double main track system to extend through the gas belt and ultimately will extend from Richmond to Logansport. It is believed the line will at no distant day be double tracked the entire distance between Cincinnati and Chicago.

Thomas Emerson, of Wapokoneta, Ohio, in the employ of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, has handed in his resignation. He began work on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton in 1858, and has been with it ever since, and in all his forty-one years of service has missed but five trains. He was eighty-four years old Wednesday.

VOLUNTEERS ARE WEDDED.

MARRIAGE OF CAPT. W. D. OTT AND MRS. C. L. MILLER.

Pretty Ceremony at St. Paul's M. E. Church Last Evening Couple Were Anointed.

The marriage of Mrs. Caroline L. Miller and Capt. William D. Ott, of the Volunteers of America, was solemnized Wednesday evening in the presence of an immense crowd that completely filled St. Paul's M. E. church, at Walton avenue and Selden street. Rev. M. C. Cooper was the officiating clergyman, and the church had been beautified by flowers and potted plants. Mrs. D. F. Bower presided at the organ, and shortly after 8 o'clock the contracting couple advanced up the aisle to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin. Misses Ida Payne and Georgia Colvin were flower girls. The bride was attired in a neat costume of the regulation colors of the volunteers, and carried a boquet of sweet peas, while Captain Ott wore the uniform of his station.

At the chancel the contracting couple were met by Rev. Cooper, who performed the ceremony which joined them as husband and wife. The ordinary marriage service of the church was used. Then followed the anointing with pure olive oil, a solemn service brought down from ancient times, and one seldom used. Captain Ott and his bride, kneeling at the altar, were anointed by Pastor Cooper, the act symbolizing their consecration to the service of God. At the conclusion of this ceremony Louis Bechtold sang a solo, and the bridal couple passed out of the church, took seats in their carriage and were driven away.

Captain Ott has been for some time in charge of the local station of the Volunteers of America, an evangelistic organization under the leadership of Ballington Booth. At present services are being held nightly in a tent at Wells and Cass streets. His bride came from Kalamazoo some months ago, and has been engaged in lecturing and evangelistic work. By her marriage to Captain Ott she at once too rank with him as a captain in the Volunteers of America. Rev. Cooper announced that the newly wedded couple would be at home after August 6th at 63 West Superior street.

A ROLAND FOR HER OLIVER.

The Lady Got Just About What She Deserved.

"The manufacture of celebrities used to be a great industry in the north," continued the old reporter, "and that accounts for the surprising fact that long accepted geniuses turn out occasionally to be plain, everyday chumps. The phenomenon has never before been explained, and apropos of the subject I recall an interesting case somewhat on the line of the lawyer's which I have just narrated. About ten years ago a weekly paper was being launched in a large inland city, and the proprietors, in hustling around for clever contributors, happened to think of a woman writer who had done one or two promising things, but attracted no special attention. 'Let's make a contract with Miss So-and-so,' they said, 'and then bull her stock.' Their first step was to commission an engraver to make the handsomest portrait he could possibly turn out. It bore a very faint resemblance to the original, but it was good to look at, and they sent electrotypes, with their compliments, to all the big papers of the country. Most of them were used, and as everybody is interested in a beautiful woman the scheme worked like a charm, and the authoress at once acquired a vogue. But, like Narcissus, she became enamored of her own reflection, and a metamorphosis immediately ensued. She gazed upon her counterfeit presentment and turned into a flower—the haughtiest rose in all the garden of letters. Some years later the man who thought up the picture scheme met the lady at a social function in New York. She did not seem to recall his name, and he ventured to remind her that he was formerly connected with the there he inhabitoned the title of the publication. 'You were one of our most valued contributors,' he added. 'Ah, yes,' she answered graciously. 'I do remember something about it now. I have always liked to help young journals along. What became of the er—print?' Then he took a horrible revenge. 'It expired after your second contribution,' he said."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

ROUGH RIDERS, JUNIOR.

Governor Roosevelt Wants His Boys to Fight Aguinaldo.

Governor Roosevelt recently directed Captain Willis Murphy, who served under him at San Juan, to proceed to the Indian Territory, New Mexico and Arizona and rally in his name a rough rider junior regiment, including as many as possible of the original rough riders, for service in crushing Aguinaldo.

Captain Murphy visited the governor by appointment at Oyster Bay. He met Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt out driving. Roosevelt caught sight of the captain and shouted: "Hello, old man! You will find your horse in my stable. Saddle him and catch us." Then, while driving and riding, and later at the Roosevelt country home, the two fixed up the plan for the resurrection of the rough riders, says the Washington Star.

Captain Murphy reached the Huffman House, New York, from Oyster Bay the other evening. "Yes," said he, "I had a talk with the governor about getting as many of the boys together as I can for a cavalry regiment. I presume we shall be as unfortunate as we were at Santiago in regard to horses, but the boys can fight on foot in the Philippines, I guess. I shall proceed very soon to the Indian Territory and raise a troop. Our regiment will ultimately, I presume, number over 1,200. Just how many of the original rough riders will reenlist I cannot estimate, but the governor is so popular among the boys that a word from him will send them anywhere. I cannot tell you who is to command the new regiment. How I wish 'our Teddy' could go with us! I am a southern Democrat, but, like the rest of the boys, think far more of him than we do of ourselves."

"Then Colonel Roosevelt will not command you?" "Much to my regret, he will not." A large number of Torrey's rough riders who started for the front in the war with Spain, but failed to see active service, are said to have volunteered to fill the ranks of Roosevelt's rough riders. Captain Murphy and other officers will probably enlist them in the far west. Besides this regiment, it is understood that two other regiments of rough riders will be organized for Philippine service.

At a Country House.

"Well, my dear admiral, and how did you sleep?"

"Not at all, general. Confounded butterfly flew in at the window and was flopping around all night—couldn't get a wink of sleep."

"Ah, dashed dangerous things, butterflies!"—Punch.

"A man's hand," repeated Li Hung Chang, arousing himself from his afternoon doze. "Make him open his hand and show how much money there is in it."—Washington Star.

Woman's Ways.

Miss Willing—There seems to be a great deal of elasticity in Chollie's nature.

Miss Woodbe—Yes; I noticed that when you threw yourself at him you soon seemed to be farther away than ever.—Cleveland Leader.

He Had.

"Anyhow, I've done one thing you never did. I've fired on a switch engine."

"So have I—one I went to school to for six years in Missouri when I was a boy. Plaked him too."—Chicago Tribune.
